Marshall Warns Of Soviet Attack

—Foe's Pullback In Korea Continues—

Biggest Air Blow Of War Hurled At Reds

"It's A Massacre" Of Enemy Planes, Returning American Flier Reports

U. S. FIFTH AIR FORCE HEADQUARTERS, KOREA—(Wednesday)—(AP)—The biggest allied air strike of the war was hurled today at Sinuiju in northwest Korea and it smoked out the Russian-supplied Chinese air force en masse.

A force of 206 fighters, including F-80s, F-47s and P-51s, smacked Sinuiju with rockets and bombs.

Above them flew 106 F-86 and F-84 jet fighters to cover the operation.

Lt. Robert Dixon of Newton, Ia., forced down when his plane ran out of fuel, said the communist jet fighters were out in strength.

"It's a massacre," he said, "and they are being massacred, and not us."

REPORT RED FRICTION

TOKYO — (Wednesday) — (AP)—The communists backpedalled in Korea today amid growing reports of friction between red China and Russia over conduct of the war.

Mounting allied pressure shoved them back over the same terrain the reds had to buy with blood of more than 80,000 men.

High ranking U. S. marine officers told AP Correspondent Jim Becker the Chinese reds had wanted to unleash a mighty smash in early April with 600,000 men, 3,000 Russian-promised planes and hundreds of tanks.

The red tanks and planes never showed up. The allies drove into North Korea. Becker said it got to the point where the 600,000 reds had no choice but to let fly their planned offensive anyway. So it started—April 22.

NO TANKS OR PLANES.

Officers pointed out to Becker that the reds achieved the very breakthrough they had wanted in a move to split and destroy the United Nations divisions. But Russia hadn't come through with the tanks and planes needed to finish the job.

The China foot soldier offensive ran out of gas in a week.

The allies started moving forward again.

Today the red fall-back was general all across the Korean peninsula.

Hard-fighting South Korean troops pushed them back in the west and east. The reds withdrew ahead of far-ranging allied patrols in the center.

Cross 38th Parallel

Censorship would not permit pin-pointing positions of the limited allied attacks.

A dispatch today from the east-central front disclosed a new allied crossing of the 38th parallel. It was made Tuesday by South Koreans southeast of Inje against moderate resistance from North Korean reds.

Northwest of Seoul, South Koreans crossed the Han river from Kimpo peninsula and probed red lines south of Kaesong. That city is 35 miles northwest of Seoul and within two miles of the 38th parallel.

Another South Korean column drove north fro Seoul.

A dispatch from Korean headquarters of the United States Eighth army by Associated Press Correspondent Robert Eunson reported the actions. But mileages were deleted.

Syria-Israel Cease-Fire Is Ordered

. . By Security Council

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y.—(AP)—The United Nations security council Tuesday night ordered an immediate cease-fire in the fighting along the Syrian-Israeli border.

The vote was 10 to 0, with Russia abstaining.

The problem was complicated, however, by Syrian denials that Syrian troops were involved in the armed clashes.

Exeter Group Protests Beef Price Action

By HOMER FINE
(Star Farm Editor)

FRIEND, Neb.—The Exeter Feeders' and Breeders' association sent registered letters protesting beef price rollbacks to the Nebraska congressional delegation Tuesday night. The letters were signed by nearly 100 cattle and hog feeders.

Nearly 50 cattle and hog feeders from the Friend-Exeter area met here Tuesday afternoon for a feedlot tour. Another 50 joined them later for a dinner-meeting here.

The afternoon tour featured stops at feedlots on the Art McCracken, Don Drake and son, Conrad Ohs and Bill Rohrig farms, where cattle on full feed were inspected and feed methods discussed.

Lyman Drake, president of the association, presided at the night meeting and appointed the committee which drew up the letter of protest.

Entrance was gained through the back door, which had been broken open.

Sec. Marshall Convinced Reds Have Atom Bomb

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Defense Secretary Marshall said Tuesday he is convinced the Russians have the atomic bomb.

But whether they have scaled the scientific mountain that stands between "having" the bomb and developing it into a practical weapon of war is another question, he indicated to the senate's armed services and foreign relations committees.

The question was raised by Sen. Bridges (R-N.H.) during Marshall's interrogation on Korean policy. The secretary's answer was a guarded one, and consequently subject to interpretation.

Charge Of Dictator Is Raised

Panama's President Arias Has Abolished Constitution Of 1946

(From Press Dispatches)

PANAMA, Panama — President Arnulfo Arias announced Tuesday night he would call a national plebiscite Wednesday to permit the people to choose, by voting, between the 1946 constitution he abolished Monday night and the 1941 charter which he substituted.

The announcement was made by the president in a broadcast from the presidential palace.

Arias' speech climaxed a day of tension, heightened by rumor and counter-rumor.

It followed a demonstration by thousands of Panamanians who marched on the national police headquarters Tuesday night, clamoring for the ouster of the president and seeking police aid to effect it.

Arias said, "If the people want us to leave the presidency, we would do so."

He denied that his motive in abolishing the constitution was to lengthen his six-year term. The 1941 charter provides a six-year term, while the 1946 constitution specifies four years.

High Court Says "No"

But the five-man supreme court Tuesday repudiated the decree and said he had put the country on the road to dictatorship.

The four opposition parties appealed to Police Chief Jose Antonio Remon, who commands the nation's only armed force, to take the lead in defending the 1946 constitution—in effect to oust the president. They charged the president's action was a "virtual coup d'etat."

It was Remon who, in November, 1949, put Arias into the presidency after forcing the resignation of then-president Daniel Chanis.

Many Arrested

Tuesday night Remon, who commands a force of 2,000, had not yet commented on the opposition appeal to unseat the president. But he spent hours conferring with opposition leaders.

The government Monday night dissolved parliament and suspended such constitutional freedoms as the right of habeas corpus.

Arias and his cabinet took their steps after a run on the government-backed savings bank and Sunday night political gun clashes in which four persons were wounded, including a national assembly member.

Twenty-five persons were arrested, including opposition leaders.

Inflation May Punch Holes In Pay Ceiling

Formula Holding Wage Hikes To 10% Will Be Reviewed By Labor Department

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The government indicated Tuesday night that it may push its 10 per cent wage ceiling upward as President Truman's request for tighter economic controls ran into determined opposition before the house banking committee.

This development came as a cattle receipts in major midwestern markets fell off sharply for the second straight day and stockyard officials attributed the slump to "holdback" by cattlemen in protest against a beef price rollback set for May 20.

Chairman Cooley (D-NC) of house agriculture committee, meanwhile, forecast that congress might ban further ceiling on farm products if Price Administrator DiSalle's beef price order fails to function properly.

Index Awaited.

This development came eas a new board was created to draw up salary ceilings for non-union executives and white collar employes, and special panels were appointed to decide on wages for packinghouse, construction, railroad and farm workers.

Federal wage officials said the formula holding pay hikes to 10 per cent will be reviewed when the labor department announces its April 15 cost-of-living index later this month, and indicated the ceiling will be changed to compensate for living increases.

Economic Stabilizer Johnston established a new board to apply wage stabilization policies to salaries "to the fullest practicable extent." He said he will name the panel's three members—all of them from the public—shortly.

Hourly Workers Eyed.

At the same time, the new 18-man wage stabilization board tackled the problem of pay boosts for hourly workers. It created panels to act on:

An 11-cent hourly wage increase for more than 200,000 packing house workers which would pierce the 10 per cent federal pay boost ceiling; 25 accumulated railroad cases; 17 cases in the construction industry and report on special provisions to be made in handling agricultural wages.

There were these other developments in the economic controls program:

1—Rep. Spence (D-NY), cosponsor of the present controls law, declared that congress may terminate price curbs over food and other farm products next month. Spence said he was concerned over reports that the "cotton bloc" and "cattle bloc" plan to fight the controls.

2-Labor Secretary Tobin told the senate banking committee that extension of controls is needed to block "disastrous inflation," and that if prices continue to rise, it would be "unrealistic" to assume that any limitations on wage increases could be maintained.

Baltimore Democrats Sweep City Elections

BALTIMORE—(AP) — Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro led Baltimore's democrats to another shutout victory in the city's election Tuesday. A republican has not been elected to a municipal post since 1943.

D'Alesandro was returned to his second four-year term by a two-to-one margin over his closest rival, republican Joseph L. Carter, close friend of republican Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin.

The 20-seat city council again is 100 per cent democrats.

Don't Take Added Risk Of Open Conflict, Defense Head Urges

Sharp Issue Taken With MacArthur, Who Said He Did Not Believe Bombing Of Red China Would Incite Russians To Attack

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Secretary of Defense Marshall gravely warned Tuesday that Russia may enter the Korean war without notice, but he declared this threat would be far greater if the nation follows the war plans proposed by Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

For the second day, the 70-year-old secretary urged that this country not take the added risk of open conflict with Russia by stepping up the war against China.

He said the Soviets have massed strong ground and air forces in the Far East and their entry into the Korean struggle would "be a very serious thing."

With this warning, Marshall sharply took issue with MacArthur who testified last week he did not believe the bombing of China would draw the Russians into the conflict—or that the Russians could wage much of a war in the Far East.

FEARS FOR MORALE

At the same time, Marshall voiced concern that MacArthur's remarks about thousands of casualties in a bloody Korean "stalemate" may seriously damage the morale of the United Nations' combat troops.

He told the senate armed services and foreign relations committees—looking into the causes of the MacArthur ouster—that there is the "very real possibility" of Russia's entry into the Korean war.

"Like all over matters pertaining to the Soviet government," he said, "the decision is of a few men and can be an instant decision whenever they choose to make it.

"They may make it without any reference to a specific event and again they may find themselves imperiled x x x and therefore take action to reduce that peril."

He conceded, also, that U. S. policy of building up defenses in Europe may provoke a war with Russia. But he insisted the risk must be taken because this country has "no choice whatever there."

Marshall declared administration policy in Asia may seem costly and a stalemate in Korea may appear the only end. But he added the cost cannot be compared at all "to what happens if we get involved in what you might call an atomic war."

MacArthur has challenged the administration policy and called for stronger measures against the red Chinese—bombing, a blockade and the use of Chinese nationalist troops. He expressed firm belief this could bring a quick end to the Korean conflict.

But Marshall pictured Korea as only part of a world struggle with communism. He said:

"There can be, I think, no quick and decisive solution to this global struggle short of resorting to another World war. The cost of such a conflict is beyond calculation.

"It is, therefore, our policy to contain communist aggression in different fashions in different areas without resorting to total war, if that be possible to avoid.

"Korea is only the latest challenger in this long, hard, continuing worldwide struggle."

Marshall contended the best way to win the Korean war is to shatter the morale of Chinese red armies with "terrific casualties" on the battlefield.

Without mentioning MacArthur by name, Marshall said the deposed general had in effect called United Nations casualties in Korea "without justified purpose."

The secretary pleaded for a procedure in the Asia policy hearing by the senate armed services and foreign relations committees "that does not destroy us in the field by serious reaction in the way of morale."

As did MacArthur, Marshall testified behind closed doors and a censored version of his remarks was made public.

Unrest Seen As Unicam Nears Close

Highway Commission Measure Is Advanced

BY ARCH DONOVAN
(Star Staff Writer)

Unrest marked the activities of the legislature Tuesday afternoon. Senators with most of their bills on the road to passage were in frivolous mood.

Fear of what may happen was reflected in others, as those with bills being considered on general file were fighting to have the bills advanced.

Panic was evident because the 183-page LB 486, codifying the election laws might fail passage. It has been held up for three weeks for review, and it was announced that a large number of amendments would be necessary. The delay was criticized by Sen. Vogel who said that if more help was needed the legislature should supply it.

Four bills, which have been placed by amendment in LB 486 and held on general file for action if the code bill failed, were advanced by their introducers. Sen. W. J. Williams started the move by having LB 442 advanced. This was followed by action on LB 354, 367 and 452.

Sen. Hal Bridenbaugh lost in an attempt to kill LB 233 increasing the salary of the revisor of statutes by giving him additional duties. Sen. C. C. Lillibridge, however, obtained a reduction in the amount of increase from $800 to $600 to correspond with other increases. Originally $1,200 had been asked.

Highway Bill Advanced

LB 2, the highway commission bill which has been revamped to include a $9,000 a year business manager was advanced after several amendments had been adopted and others failed. Sen. Marvel first attempted to have five districts established instead of having one member at large. He expressed fear of having two members from one congressional district.

Sen. Brown then sought to have two counties transferred from the Marvel plan to another district. His amendment was lost in a chorus of "noes." The Marvel plan suffered a similar fate.

Sen. Liebers had adopted an amendment that would make members of the commission ineligible for reappointment if they had served three or more years.

Pay of members was increased from $10 to $20 a day with a maximum of $1,200 a year on motion of Sen. Hoyt.

Against Commission

Sen. Vogel as a matter of personal privilege went on record against the commission plan stating that he had more experience with commissions than any member of the legislature.

"It will not increase efficiency," he asserted. "It will decrease it.

"It will not decrease costs. It will increase them.

"It will put the commission into politics. At present there is no politics."

He charged that the only reason for the bill was to placate certain groups. "If that is your idea of your duties as legislators, mine are all wrong," he said.

"A little guy went down to Munich to placate and we have been paying for it ever since," the Omahan closed.

Mac Spends Day Visiting Connecticut

NEW YORK— (INS) —Gen. Douglas MacArthur motored to Connecticut Tuesday to see the dogwood in bloom and visit some friends.

The deposed United Nations supreme commander was accompanied by Mrs. MacArthur and his chief aide, Maj. Gen. Courtney Whitney.

Whitney said there was "no truth" to reports the general looked over a 9½-acre estate known as "Bayview" on "Contentment island" near Darien—reportedly for the purpose of making it his home.

As a matter of fact, Whitney denied that MacArthur had purchased or leased a home in Connecticut or had entered into any negotiations regarding a home there.

MacArthur was said to have looked over "Bayview" in the company of James H. Rand, president of Remington Rand, which has offered the general a $100,000-a-year post.

Motive for Miss Astor's act was not known. Her daughter, Marilyn, said Miss Astor had been "morbid and despondent."

The screen beauty, who was John Barrymore's leading lady in numerous films, telephoned Father William J. Smith of St. Cyril's church in Encino at midnight Monday and gasped that she had taken poison.

Panting Police Pursue Purloiner Through Traffic 'Till He's Taken

BY CHARLES MOHR
(Star Staff Writer)

A 23-year-old Omaha man, who sprinted from an O street jewelry store with a stolen diamond ring, led panting policemen and excited civilians a wild chase through downtown Lincoln Tuesday afternoon.

The fleet-footed thief managed to evade capture long enough to discard the ring, was arrested, returned by officers to the alley where he dropped the diamond, re-escaped, sprinted another half dozen blocks, was recaptured and promptly clapped in jail.

Inspector E. H. Masters and Lt. Paul Beave pieced together this story:

About 3 p.m. a Negro, dressed in grey slacks and a bright green polo shirt, entered Lowell's store at 1341 O and asked to have a watch cleaned. Suddenly, he leaped a counter and snatcthed a boxed diamond ring.

As the thief ran east from the store, Mrs. Margaret Johnston, a clerk, shouted, "Stop that man. Stop that man."

Gordon B. Andrews, 28, who operates the Time Shop at 108 South Fifteenth, was in the store at the time and took up the chase.

A husky penitentiary guard, J. W. Duffek of 1745 South Twelfth, heard Mrs. Johnston's shouts and promptly leveled Andrews, the wrong man, with a flying tackle.

"Not me," screamed Andrews. "It's the other guy."

Duffek and Andrews then teamed-up to chase the natty robber east on O to the Federated Finance building, where he took refuge. When he emerged Duffek struggled with him, but the young man got away down an alley.

About this time he was seen to discard the ring box. Cruiser cars and motorcycles were called into action, and several minutes later Motorcycle Officer Cliff Doran found the culprit cowering under a car parked in the alley that runs from Sixteenth to Seventeenth between O and N.

He was brought to headquarters, where officers even forced the suspect to strip in vain attempt to find the diamond.

After steady grilling the Omaha youth finally agreed to return to the scene of the chase and point out the spot where he had tossed the ring away. Detectives Frank Robbins and Joe Harbaugh escorted him in a cruiser car.

A few minutes later, at 5 p.m., the police radio system buzzed again when Robbins excitedly informed headquarters that the embryo track star was off and running once more.

He had jumped from the detectives car near Fifteenth and O after the ring had been recovered under a car parked in the alley where the first arrest was made.

Harbaugh and Robbins chased the suspect east for half a dozen blocks and finally ran him down. The sweating officers clapped a pair of handcuffs on the man and brought him back to the safety of city jail.

William B. Lowell, manager of the jewelry store, could not be located to place an evaluation on the recovered ring.

Two other Omaha men, arrested at Fourteenth and O during the wild afternoon, are being held for investigation on the posshibility that they are companions of the loudly dressed ring snatcher.

Civil Defense Leaders Told To Get Busy

Home Front Said Least Prepared

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Millard Caldwell, administrator of civil defense, sent 2,000 civic leaders homeward Tuesday with advice to get busy on local defense programs.

The former Florida governor told a conference of city, county and state officials and representatives of civic organizations that the administration is "doing everything humanly possible" to prevent war and at the same time is arming rapidly.

"The least prepared of all is the home front," Caldwell said.

"Preparedness for the home front is civil defense. The American people must be convinced of this, and they must act fast."

Must Be No Delay.

Caldwell said state and local defense directors will be asked to hold similar conferences in the near future.

"When the lives of our people and the security of our way of life are at stake, there can be no delays, no stumbling, no inaction," he said.

"Together, we can help make attack on our homeland so unprofitable to an enemy that it may help prevent a third World War."

Earlier the conference heard similar warnings on the urgency of civil defense from California Gov. Earl Warren, various federal civil defense officials, and —Monday night—from President Truman.

(Special to The Star)

SCHUYLER—Voters here approved by a two-to-one margin Tuesday night a $225,000 supplemental bond issue to enable initiation of a $475,000 school building program.

Frank Stibol, president of the Schuyler school board, said the result of the vote on the school issue was 719 for and 360 against. He said $250,000 had been voted by the city four years ago, and the present issue will supplement this amount.

Principal item of the building program is the $430,000 high school. The proposed one-story ultra-modern building will be 362 feet in length. It will house five classrooms and the home economics, science and commercial departments.

One wing of the high school will accomodate the vocational agriculture department, manual training shops, and the band. The auditorium-gymnasium will occupy another wing.

The remainder of the bond funds will be used to remodel the present high school into a grade school.

Union College Group Good In Harlyn Abel's Finale

BY RAY SCHAUMBURG

Tuesday night at St. Paul's Methodist church, the Golden Cords Chorale of Union college presented its final concert with Mr. Harlyn Abel as its director. Considering the fine quality of the music presented, it is unfortunate that an audience of less than two hundred attended the concert of this fine organization.

Mr. Abel chose a most difficult program for his final appearance with the group, but from beginning to end the program was a most enjoyable one.

The ensemble opened with a selection arranged by George Lynn, called O Magnify the Lord With Me. It was followed by a motet, Create in Me, O God, a Pure Heart, by Brahms. The third selection of the frist group was the Hallelujah Chorus from the Mount of Olives by Beethoven.

The second section of the program was made up of music by F. Melius Christiansen and consisted of Hosanna, Lost in the Night, with a solo by Lorraine Hansen, and Beautiful Saviour.

Negro spirituals comprised the third group on the program, a wide skip in style from the second. And when an ensemble can jump from Christiansen's music to Negro spirituals and sing both styles well, they have a large amount of flexibility. Four numbers were sung in this group: Dawson's O' What a Beautiful City, with solo by Mr. Dorothy Burg, Great Gettin' Up Mornin' by the same composer with a solo by Mr. Abel, Jacob's Ladder, arranged by George Lynn with Lyle Jewell as soloist, and Ain'a That Good News, by Carroll.

The last section of the program consisted of the more serious music of Bach, Randall Thompson, Grieg and Noble Cain. The first number of this section, All Breathing Life, was executed with vigor and precision. The second selection was the famous Alleluia of Thompson, and was done in a way quite unlike any we have heard before: Imaginative and unusual.

The next number, Jesu, Friend of Sinners, arranged by Dickenson, was perceptively and clearly rendered. To climax the program, the ensemble sang Noble Cain's splendid O Watchers of the Stars. It was a fitting climax for a fine program.

Harlyn Abel played thee interludes on the organ: A movement from the Sonata in G minor by Becker, the first of Three Impressions for organ by Karg-Elert, and Carillon Sortie, by Mulet.

Union college may justly be proud of the fine quality of work that the Abels have produced, and we feel sure that their leaving the college will be a great loss to many people, especially the Golden Cords Chorale.

Third County Escapee Says He Is Guilty

The third county jail inmate to be arraigned over Saturday's six-man escape pleaded guilty to car theft charges in District court Tuesday.

He is Lewis Day, 22, Creston, Ia. Judge Harry R. Ankeny deferred sentence pending investigation, as he did in the cases of the two escapees arraigned Monday.

They were Richard Stieber, 23, of Lincoln, who pleaded guilty to escaping custody, and James D. Hunter, 22, Lincoln, who admitted involvement in stealing the get-away car.

Charges against a fourth prisoner captured Saturday afternoon at Kenesaw have not yet been filed. He is Donald E. Conley, 25, also of Creston.

Warrants are out for the arrest of two escapees still at large. They are Sylvester Boell, 45, and Joe Chaney, 35, both of Lincoln.

$200 Raised For C.V. Band Uniforms

More than $200 of the needed $2,000 was raised at the kickoff dinner of College View high school in a drive to repay the loan used to buy 40 band uniforms.

Approximately 200 parents and pupils attended the dinner, at which Jim Murphy was awarded the Arion medal as the pupil making the most progress in the band this school year.

300 At Investure Ceremonies For Rt. Rev. Przudzik

More than 300 persons, including 75 priests and 16 monsignors from all over Nebraska, attended formal investiture ceremonies at Davey Monday morning of the Rt. Rev. Joseph Przudzik as a Domestic Prelate to His Holiness, Pope Pius XII.

Solemn Pontifical Mass was offered at the morning service by the Most Rev. Louis B. Kucera, bishop of Lincoln, at St. Mary's church in Davey.

Dinner for the clergy and laity was served at noon in the Davey community hall by St. Mary's Altar society. Toastmaster was Rev. M. M. Kaczmarek.

The Rt. Rev. M. W. Helmann, in his toast to the pope, praised the efforts of the Holy See to bring peace and tolerance to the world by the understanding between peoples and countries.

The unity of the church through the efforts of the clergy was toasted by Rev. Edward Tuchek who gave a toast to the diocese.

Bishop Kucera made a short speech and Msgr. Przudzik gave the response.

Mrs. Orme Named Head Of Nebraska Women's Group

Mrs. Fern Hubbard Orme of Lincoln is the new president of the Nebraska Council of Women's Organizations.

Others elected at the council's meeting Tuesday at the Y. M. C. A. were:

Mrs. J. E. Conklin, Hubbell, vice chairman.

Mrs. C. Fred Ferciot, Lincoln, secretary-treasurer.

Three speakers appeared on the morning portion of the program. The first, Miss Louise Nixon, executive secretary of the Nebraska Public Library association told of the increased interest in libraries shown over the state.

"This interest presents a challenge to the association," Miss Nixon said.

Women Can Help

"The women's organizations in Nebraska can help us meet this challenge," she said, "by assisting the libraries in securing the two mill levy from local governing agencies as is now possible under recent legislation."

The second speaker, Merlin Frantz, executive secretary of the Nebraska CROP committee, outlined the state's share in this year's CROP program. Nebraska is to furnish 80 carloads of grain he said.

F. B. Decker, state superintendent of public instruction, the final morning speaker, outlined the things the council could do to improve the state education system.

Concentration

"You can concentrate on getting the adoption of a state board of education and then seeing that qualified persons are elected to this board," he said.

"Try to eliminate the small school districts," he continued, "so that the cost of education is more evenly distributed. And, finally, try to convince the people that a well-trained teacher is one of the best investments that can be made."

Mrs. L. E. Hoover of Lincoln was in charge of arranging the program and she was assisted by Mrs. Conklin and Florence Atwood of Lincoln.

Nursing Needs

At the afternoon session, Miss Emily Brickley, director of public health and nursing at the state department of health, explained the survey of nursing needs and resources in Nebraska to the group.

Miss Brickley pointed out that in 1950 there was a deficit of 675 nurses in Nebraska. The shortage particularly pertains to the fields of tuberculosis and psychiatric care and public health, Miss Brickley said.

She asserted that in the next ten years one out of every ten high school students would have to enter nursing to make up the present deficit. At present, she remarked, only six of ten are going into nursing.

Marital Happiness

Kenneth Cannon, president of the Nebraska council on family life, told the group that marital happiness is no more uncommon now than it was 50 years ago.

"Success," he said, "in marraige is not a gift of the gods, but something that each partner must work for. It is not inevitable that any couple will succeed or fail."

He pointed out that many factors can affect the happiness or failure of a marriage, but there must be a basic attitude of each partner towards going to work at making the marriage succeed.

'Our purpose is not to get people to worry about their marriage life and their children, but to help improve their relationships between all members of the family," Cannon said.

Following a short question period, the group adjourned.

Sandhills Cattle Group Hits Beef Price Rollbacks

BROKEN BOW — (AP) — The Sandhills Cattle association meeting here Tuesday condemned the cattle price rollback.

The resolution containing the condemnation predicted a severe shortage of beef next winter because, it said, feedlots will not be restocked if the rollback remains in effect.

Four hundred attended the meeting.

They decided to set up an association branch office in Broken Bow to give information to cattle feeders.

Officers renamed are Emil Fucher, Irwin, president; Floyd Lackaff, Bassett, vice president; Bob Hamilton, Valentine, secretary-manager, and Ralph Baker, Valentine, treasurer.

Adaptability, Not Size, Determines Survival

By J. Gordon Roberts

Today, we worship "bigness" and offer Statism or State Capitalism as an advantage upon the grounds of "bigness." Circus giants, however, win few boxing championships. As every scientist knows, in nature, adaptability, rather than size, determines survival.

The irrational thinking leading to the fallacy by which man is, in effect, considered as an animal results from the following: destructive exploitation by society's leaders of a residual, childhood pride-of-possession. Such pride takes no account of creative use of property owned. A child, for instance, wishes either to possess all the toys of another child, or to break them.

Such thinking in adult life stems from substituting society as a whole for the mother-figure. It results from the consideration of wealth as candy distributed by mamma to little boys who are good little boys. The failure to proffer wealth thus constitutes lack of appreciation upon the part of the mother-figure.

If human beings are to be considered as animals in a feedlot, then certainly all should receive the same or approximately the same feed, to obtain uniform growth and production. Otherwise such thinking is irrational.

Sec. Marshall Proves A Forthright Witness

Would Have Resigned Testifies He

Defense Head Asked In Effect His Course If In M'Arthur Shoes

WASHINGTON—(AP)— Secretary of Defense Marshall was asked in effect Tuesday what he would have done had he been in Gen. Douglas MacArthur's shoes.

Sen. Bridges

The point arose when Marshall was telling the senate's armed services and foreign relations committee how he settled arguments with President Roosevelt when he was army chief of staff.

"Suppose," said Sen. Bridges (R-NH), "the differences between you and the administration, the president, had become an absolute difference of opinion, where you thought the best interests of the country were not being served by the president, or the administration. What would you have done then?"

"I probably would have resigned as chief of staff," Marshall replied.

"And then, following your resignation, what would you have done?"

"That would have depended on the effect of my resignation," Marshall said. "I might have felt that the situation was so glaring that I must talk to the public."

Tells of China Incident.

Secretary Marshall said that, when in China in 1946, he sent back to the United States a man who had "altered" a statement from President Truman to "create quite a different reaction" than the president intended.

"I don't know whether he was a communist or not," Marshall said of the man.

He said he doesn't remember the man's name.

They Were Communists.

Secretary of Defense Marshall testified there was never any doubt in his mind that red leaders in China were "Marxist communists" when he was there in 1946.

He gave that reply when Sen. Bridges told him many state department officials were saying in 1946 that the Chinese reds were "merely agrarian reformers."

Marshall visited China in 1946 as a special representative of President Truman. One purpose of his mission was to try to close the gap between the Chinese nationalist government and the Chinese reds.

Sen. George (D-Ga) asked whether Marshall, when he returned from his mission, felt "the only hope of China, long run view of it, was to bring about an integration of the communists with the nationalist force."

"Those were the instructions that I went to China with in the beginning," Marshall said.

"When I came back I was hard put to find a long view conclusion in the matter because of the failing structure of the Kuomintang (national government) and the determination, organization and discipline of the communist group and their undoubted advice and possible support that would occur later from the Soviet government."

Knows of No Gag Order.

Secretary of Defense Marshall said he knows nothing about a reported Pentagon order prohibiting officers from publicly discussing the firing of Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

"I didn't issue it, and I didn't know about it," Marshall replied.

Good Weather, Big Turnouts Greeting Lincoln's Sowers

ALLIANCE, Neb.—Dinner with the Alliance chamber of commerce members Tuesday night concluded the first day of a three-day tour for Lincoln's Goodwill Sowers. Good weather marked the day's trip.

Entertained at the Elks club, the capital city visitors were officially greeted by Mayor Lee String, Chamber President Gene Neuswanger and Carl Smiley, chamber secretary.

Earlier in the day, the Sowers stopped in eight other Nebraska towns where good sized crowds turned out. Following luncheon at Broken Bow, stops were made at Merna, Anselmo, Dunning, Mullen and Hyannis.

Near 400 citizens and school children were on hand at Mullen when the Sowers arrived in that sandhill community. A 30-piece school band directed by Veda Moore heralded the Sowers arrival.

350 Out At Hyannis

A crowd of 350 persons turned out at Hyannis to welcome the Lincoln delegation. Superintendent of Schools Summers officially greeted the visitors.

At Dunning, some 150 citizens welcomed the Sowers to that community. Both the mayor and superintendent of schools were among the official greeters.

Schools were dismissed at Anselmo as the Sowers rolled into that town. Superintendent A. L. Gray and Will Schroder, Anselmo marshal, extended a welcome to the Sowers.

Merna's 30-piece band directed by Glenn Reinertson paraded as the Sowers arrived there. Sharon Davolt serves as band majorette. H. C. Adams, Merna superintendent, was also on hand.

Three hundred and fifty persons attended the luncheon meeting at Broken Bow Tuesday honoring the Sowers. Pat Berg, Lincoln Sower, presented a skit, and Carroll Huntington of Broken Bow was also on the program.

Emil Fuchser of Irwin, Neb., president of the Sandhills Cattlemen's association, served as master of ceremonies at the Broken Bow get-together. F. E. Mollin of Denver, executive secretary of the American National Cattlemen's association, was guest speaker. John Duncan, Broken Bow chamber secretary, greeted the Lincoln contingent upon arrival shortly before noon.

During the morning the Sowers visited Litchfield and Ansley where school children turned out for the occasion.

While Attention Is Diverted

It may well be that while the American people are so preoccupied with international developments, particularly day-by-day happenings in the Orient, here at home matters of supreme importance to the public will suffer from neglect.

★

Oil, electricity, and natural gas are powerful factors in American life today, and of vital concern to the majority of American families. The industries based upon these three—industries representing heavy investments of private capital back through the years, investments running into the billions—have been fighting what loosely could be described as a life-and-death struggle to liberate themselves from some of the restrictions placed upon them by the federal government. The natural gas people, closely linked with the oil industry, want to get out from under regulation by the Federal Power commission, a supervision that extends to rates charged for natural gas. The great oil interests are battling for a fabulous stake in an attempt to reverse a decision by the United States Supreme Court, vesting title to the huge Tidelands or offshore oil reserves in Uncle Sam.

★

Finally, under skillful lobbying, the private utilities in the electrical field are seeking to hamstring government distribution of electricity produced by such outstanding developments as TVA, and the Columbia river basin, the latter including Bonneville and Grand Coulee. The electrical interests have no objection to Uncle Sam's building huge dams, developing enormous amounts of hydroelectric energy if they, the private utilities, are permitted to distribute this electricity at a fat profit to themselves. They are content—in fact, they seemingly lend their full support to the program of the conservation of natural resources now on the condition that the vast amounts of electricity so generated shall be distributed by them to the consumer. They want to cut in, to absorb a juicy chunk of the profits to be realized through this program of river basin development.

★

Naturally that means that the program of rural electrification which now supplies about 90 per cent of the American farm homes, and the consumers in the towns and cities served with this cheap electricity will be deprived of a considerable portion of the benefits of the public's investment.

★

The bitter struggle now in progress in Washington, the concentration of public interest upon the "Great Debate" as it flares and flames in the discussion of Far Eastern policy, provides an ideal setting for quiet under-cover work up on Capitol Hill by these powerful interests. Before this session of congress winds up its tasks, the Kerr bill removing so-called independent natural gas producers from regulation by the Federal Power commission will put in its reappearance. The old, badly mauled Tidelands oil legislation will come out of hiding in a bid for congressional approval. The private electrical utilities have been having a joysome field day hamstringing the expansion of public distribution lines. They have succeeded in eliminating money provisions for public distribution lines from the appropriation bill.

★

If any deliberate thought is given to these steps, the results should be clear to every citizen. In the case of Tidelands oil, the big oil giants will have gained unrestricted access to the last remaining oil reserve the American people possess, to be exploited under the traditionally weak, vacillating regulation by the states. Gasoline and electricity have become necessities in America. In their nature, they lend themselves to monopoly. The decisions in these three fields, which may be made in the heat, confusion and absorption of Washington at this time will leave an imprint upon American life for years to come possibly.

Effects of Precedent

The legislature had a tough decision to make in Governor Val Peterson's proposal for an end run around a constitutional ban affecting salary increases for the heads of code departments. But it made the right decision, and made it forceful. It rejected the governor's scheme of an executive council of code department heads under which each code secretary would receive an additional salary.

★

There is not a great deal, if any, argument over the inadequacy of the present scale of salaries. Under the provisions of L. B. 481, the director of banking would go from $5,000 a year to $6,500 — the director of agriculture, from $4,500 to $6,500—the director of health, from $5,500 to $8,500—the state engineer, from $7,500 to $8,500—and the director of insurance, from $5,000 to $6,500. Now that is not an excessive salary (the new figure established by L. B. 481) if the state expects to acquire the services of competent men of broad experience, capable of handling the duties which fall to them. Actually the increases provided for, to take effect as soon as they could become operative under the constitution, do not represent any more purchasing power under present conditions of inflation than the old salaries established when the dollar had a great deal more stature in terms of bread, meat, fuel and clothes.

★

But there was the plain, unequivocal constitutional limitation in the path of an immediate hike of these salaries. The governor had a legal opinion from the attorney general that what he proposed was constitutional. This column does not question the attorney general's finding.

It does believe that the legislature was on sound ground in refusing to join with the governor in what, to all practical purposes, amounted to thumbing the nose at a specific constitutional provision.

★

Certainly what was proposed in this case would walk again and again as a precedent for getting around the organic law of Nebraska. There are times when constitutional limitations may operate to individual injustice. Nevertheless it is not in the spirit of good government to set aside the constitution. The situation perhaps is the best argument that before too much time elapses, there should be a constitutional convention to permit a complete overhauling of the state's machinery of government.

Nebraska's Native Tree

The gentleman from Otoe, Mr. Hyde Sweet, comes forward with another plug for his favorite tree.

"I still think mebbe the redbud should be our state tree," he writes in his esteemed Kick Kolumn. "They're doing very well just now in spite of the late spring."

We should like to go along with Brother Sweet—that is, until we picked up an encyclopedia to examine into the family tree of the redbud. And this is what we found:

"Judas tree, the Cercis siliquastruan of botanists, belonging to the family Leguminosae. It is native of southern Europe and Asia Minor, and forms a handsome low tree, with a flat spreading head. In spring it is covered with a profusion of purplish-pink flowers, which appear before the leaves. The flowers have an agreeable acid taste, and are eaten mixed with salad or made into iritters. The tree was frequently figured by the older herbalists. One woodcut by Castor Durante has the figure of Judas Iscariot suspended from one of the branches, illustrating the popular tradition regarding this tree. (It was at this point in our reading that we parted company with Brother Sweet.) Another species, C. canadensis, the American Judas tree, called also redbud, is found in North America from southern Ontario to eastern Nebraska and southward to Florida, Texas and Mexico, and differs from the European species in its smaller size and pointed leaves."

Well, we trust that much as Brother Sweet has fallen for the breathless beauty of the redbud, in view of his well-known aversion to salads, particularly his long-standing war against potato salad, he will think twice before he places the redbud in the role of Nebraska's state tree. How could Mr. Sweet refuse a heaping plate of potato salad, garnished with a liberal sprinkling of redbud leaves?

Beg Pardon, Suh!

Is our face red? Is our head bowed and bloody? Well, not exactly, but nevertheless the back of the neck is a little deeper shade than usual. We were talking about Lincoln's approved six-million-dollar bond issue for new buildings and for additions to present structures. In some manner an "m" became a "b" —and there it was in black type—that the people of Lincoln had bonded themselves to the tune of six "billions" for new schools! It appears that this community is anticipating an amazing increase in population. What are three ciphers between friends?

Wives And Income Tax

Magazine article writers have to eat, and there is nothing to be gained by poking fun at a recent story claiming that it pays (financially speaking) to get married. The eager writer pointed to statistics and joyfully proclaimed that there was a great income tax saving to be had: A single man making $3,000 a year has to pay $152 more than the married man in the same bracket. Either the writer is single himself—or mad. There isn't a man anywhere who can support a wife on anything near $152 a year. But, as was pointed out above, magazine article writers have to eat, and that accounts for the story.

Investigating Acheson?

So much noise has been made about "investigating the state department" it is necessary to point out that few government bodies have been so thoroughly and consistently investigated in the last few years. Since Secretary of State Acheson's appointment he has appeared no fewer than 59 times before the house foreign affairs committee and senate foreign relations committee. Between 1949 and 1950 his subordinates in the state department have made 371 appearances before the same two committees. This, it should be pointed out, does not count the many times Acheson and his aides have conferred with members of congress privately.

It is evident that those who shout the loudest about the secretary of state are the politicians and editors who confess some measure of admiration for Senator Joe McCarthy, the Wisconsin fireball. If some investigating is called for, it would probably be most profitable to look into the kind of thinking which makes it possible for men to choose Jumpin' Joe above Dean Acheson, when it comes to honorable statement of position.

—Washington Merry-Go-Round—

NO WATER—AND RITA HAYWORTH NEEDED A BATH!

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — While the most glamorous man in the U.S.A. was in Washington testifying before the senate, the most glamorous gal in the U.S.A. was also near Washington, though she kept a long way from the senate.

Newspaper headlines played up reports that Rita Hayworth was in Reno preparing to shed her title of princess, but actually she was spending a few days on the Pearson farm in Maryland where she seemed more interested in 47 queens of the dairy barn, a couple of horses, and our prize Holstein bulls, "Harry S. Truman" and "Prediction No. 1" than in the near-by MacArthur show in the senate.

After trying to cover the latter show, I got out to the farm late one afternoon to find a much more difficult problem staring me stark in the face.

☆ ☆ ☆

Up until that point, things apparently had gone well. The farm hands had taken the presence of visiting royalty and Hollywood glamor in their stride. However, I could see the minute I got out of my car that all was not well. Mrs. P. had the steely glint in her eye which I had not seen for a long, long time—in fact, not since the hogs got loose and made mincemeat out of her deck tennis court.

"The water," said Mrs. P., "is off. Just how is Rita going to take a bath?"

"Have you called Leon Lowery?" I asked, referring to our neighbor who can fix anything from my grandson's nursing bottle to the twine-knotter on a new Holland pickup hay-baiier.

"Leon is busy and won't come," replied the little woman.

I'm sure if you told him that Rita Hayworth needed a bath he'd come in a minute," I suggested.

"It isn't only a bath," reminded Mrs. P, who had been faced with the drouth all day. "How do we wash the dishes? And what do we drink? And what about the cows?"

This, I confess, made me think twice. Because when cows get no water to drink, they give less milk, and when they give less milk my score goes down; and I have been aiming for a milk score that would beat Carroll Morgan's, who taunts me with his high score every time we meet.

Finally, I got Leon Lowery on the telephone. He had ordered an extra part for the pump a month ago, but Jake Snyder of Farmers Supply had forgotten to order it. So the pump couldn't get fixed that night, Rita couldn't get a bath, the dishes couldn't get washed, I couldn't shave in the morning, and my cows would get a lower score than Carroll Morgan's.

☆ ☆ ☆

"Maybe Rita could do without a bath," I suggested hopefully. I'll bet when she was a kid back in Brooklyn she even argued with her mother that she didn't want to bathe at all."

"Yes, but what about your cows?" reminded Mrs. P.

"Well, that's different," I admitted.

"Furthermore," I argued desperately, "look at New York City and all the trouble they had about water. We're not the only ones who have problems. Or take Los Angeles.

"Furthermore," say I, "I would like to quote an issue of a noted column—the Washington Merry-Go-Round — which recently said, 'A calamity worse than the atom bomb is being studied by scientists—the increasing shortage of water in the United States?"

"You and Rita will just have to get ready for the ultimate future," I concluded, "and the fact that our pump broke down is just good practice for the days that lie ahead."

However, it didn't do any good. By this time I had a strong suspicion where the argument was heading. There has long been a difference of opinion inside the Pearson family about the relative merits of water from a spring and water from a well. Miss Hayworth, so far as I could see, was not really perturbed about her bath. I imagine there were a good many days traveling through Africa with Prince Ali Khan that she never got a bath at all, and I gathered this was not the grounds for their impending divorce. So I had sort of an inkling of what was coming.

"Don't you think," said Mrs. P, changing to her most dulcet tones, "that what we really need is a well all our own—a well that we don't have to share with your 47 thirsty cows and the farm families? After all, a well would be as much better than a spring, with all those lizards always crawling into the pipe. I think after all, you're always building some silo or other that doesn't do any good except stick up in the air and spoil the scenery."

☆ ☆ ☆

"But how is Jackson Leighter going to reduce if he doesn't help me fill the silo?" say I, referring to my well-padded radio agent, who, with Mrs. Leighter, has been traveling with Rita.

However, I saw it was no use. Rita Hayworth is a charming gal and a swell sport. She didn't mind the water shortage at all. But she has done me a great disfavor. Thanks to her, I have been forced into drilling a well.

Mrs. P. doesn't know it yet, but I am going to connect the well to the cow barn. I just can't afford to let my milk score drop.

Washington Calling

OSCAR CHAPMAN HAS REMAINED FAITHFUL TO PUBLIC INTEREST

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON—So much has been printed in recent months about public servants who betray the public trust for favor and influence that the picture of Washington before the country could hardly be darker. The impression of a kind of Gomorrah on the Potomac is enhanced by those who seem to want to discredit not just one president or one administration but all government.

Marquis Childs

In this atmosphere it may be worth noting a public servant who has remained faithful to the public interest. The other day Oscar Chapman observed the anniversary of his eighteenth year with the department of interior, first as assistant secretary, then undersecretary and finally secretary. This is one instance where ability has been rewarded with promotion to the top job that too often is handed out as a political reward.

☆ ☆ ☆

As one of the very few survivors of the New Deal, Chapman is such a rarity that it would not be surprising one day to find him under glass in the Smithsonian institution. And because he has held to his New Deal convictions, he has frequently of late been a target for attack by those who believe that anything put forward after the era of Rameses II must be dangerously radical.

☆ ☆ ☆

In these angry times conversation is likely to become a kind of growling match. On such an occasion recently, one of the wealthy young men in the south, the inheritor of a comfortable fortune, was holding forth on the iniquity of Washington and the evils of almost everyone holding office here. Suddenly he came forth with this:

"Why, sir, I would rather have this country taken over by Joe Stalin than by Oscar Chapman."

☆ ☆ ☆

It came as something of a surprise to the company present that Secretary Chapman wanted to take over America. The plot was unfolding, we were told, through Chapman's furtherance of public power development and the construction of publicly-owned transmission lines from dams built with public funds.

Repeatedly, congress has voted for both public power developments and for the construction of transmission lines. Through the power division of the department of interior Secretary Chapman is responsible for carrying out the policies approved by the congress.

Moreover, and this would seem to be in accord with proper government practice, he believes in the necessity for limited participation by government in the power field. If he were out of sympathy with the policy approved again and again by congress, then he would not be the right person to administer that policy.

☆ ☆ ☆

The government has entered the power field, under limited participation, in two ways. One is the yardstick approach which holds that since the power industry is in any event a monopoly, it is desirable to have some competition from other than private producers. The second is the need for government to accept certain social responsibilities and obligations which private enterprise cannot or will not for a variety of reasons carry out.

Thinking along this line has been behind the construction of TVA and the big hydroelectric dams in the Pacific Northwest. It is back of one of the most far-reaching developments in this country — rural electrification which has progressed until today more than 90 percent of America's farms have power.

While this has been happening, private utilities have greatly increased their sales of power. They are making the same phenomenal profits as other private business. They still own and conduct about 90 percent of the entire power operation in this country.

In the face of these facts, for anyone to talk about government "taking over" the power industry is a willful distortion of the truth. Those who wish to discredit any and all government try to tag this activity with the smear words, "socialist" or "communist." It has nothing to do with socialism or communism, being an American approach to the role of government that we have seen repeated over and over again. One of the early examples was when the federal government gave vast tracts of government owned lands to the railroads to help open up settlement of the continent.

Chapman is just now opposing the efforts of a coalition of republicans and ultra-conservative democrats who have cut out appropriations to provide transmission lines to tie up with power projects built with public funds. He argues that to allow the private utility to buy the low-cost power at the dam site is to deprive the consumer of the benefit intended by congress when funds for the project were voted and give the benefit instead to the private company. That is his duty and it is well to remember that there are men who are trying to live up to their obligations.

Garden Glances With The Moon

By CECILE PARRISH SWINGLE

"Flowers seem intended for the solace of ordinary humanity. Children love them; quiet, tender, contented, ordinary people love them as they grow; they are the cottagers' treasure; and in the crowded town, mark, as with a little broken fragment of rainbow, the hearts rest the covenant of peace."
— John Ruskin.

☆ ☆ ☆

THIS morning the new moon is in the barren and airy sign, Gemini, but at 2:14 this afternoon it will enter the watery and exceedingly fruitful sign, Cancer. So this afternoon, tomorrow and Friday, sow seeds of all annual flowers. Also, seeds of all vegetables that produce their yield above the soil, as lettuce, etc. Set out plants of cabbage, celery, broccoli, peppers, tomatoes, etc.

Mrs. Swingle

Tomatoes—I've scarcely said a word about tomatoes this spring, have I? Don't be misled and think we're not growing tomatoes anymore. Tomatoes are our favorite fruit of the kitchen garden. We've even grown them among flowers in other years when our garden space was very limited, and with great good luck, too. It was back in the 'thirties—the drouth 'thirties, of all years!

RED cherry tomatoes which we allow to self sow are already up about an inch. These are the "cutest" addition to salads and their flavor is excellent. They are not so sweet as the "red pear" and "yellow pear" tomatoes of preserve fame. Some years we've grown our tomatoes from seeds sown directly in the open garden and they have produced as early and with as good a yield as those grown from purchased nursery-grown plants.

However, April rains and perhaps, too, just God's general scheme of things retarded our Nebraska spring so we shall set out pot-grown tomato plants this afternoon, six of an early variety, Earliana, Sioux, or maybe our nurseryman has a newer one which we'll try and hope to have ripe tomatoes by July 4. Then six or so each of Marglobe and Pritchard. Rutgers, too, is a later tomato and perhaps admost as good as Marglobe or Pritchard. Four of Jubilee, that large yellow tomato with few seeds and superb flavor.

And last but not least, six Ponderosas, my very favorite tomato for flavor and color. If someone could only hybridize an early, globe-shaped tomato with Ponderosa's flavor and color, his fortune might be made. Ponderosas are so late, too irregular to pack and market well, but very, very large and very desirable for table use.

☆ ☆ ☆

ROSE—think ye not I've forgotten roses, the fairest flower of all. I've given our roses more time and thought than usual this year because they've had to be moved. Trees, lilacs, and other shrubs have a way of growing up and casting more shade about one's garden. Roses need full sun and plenty of space for air to circulate, so we've been obliged to make two new rose beds. What a chore! What a chore!

If you're buying new roses, please do choose "high rated" ones, as: Reds: Crimson Glory, Christopher Stone, Etoile de Hollande, Charlotte Armstrong, Poinsettia, Red Radiance.

Pinks: Dainty Bess, Picture, Radiance, First Love, Pink Princess, Mrs. Charles Bell, Betty Uprichard, The Doctor.

Whites: Pedralbes, McCredy's Ivory, White Wings, Mme. Jules Bouche, Snowbird.

Yellows: Eclipse, Golden Dawn, McGredy's Yellow, Soeur Therese, Sutter's Gold.

Blends: Peace, Mme. Henri Guillot, Good News, Mrs. Sam McGredy, President Herbert Hoover.

Floribundas: (Red) World's Fair, Donald Prior, Red Pinocchio; (Pink) The Fairy, Else Poulsen, Fashion, Pinocchio, Cecile Brunner; (Yellow) Goldilocks, King Boreas; (White) Summer Snow or Dagmar Spath. And Paul's Scarlet Climber still tops the list of climbers.

Begin your dusting with rose sulphur, and also spray your roses now to prevent aphids, worms and blackspot.

So until next week—

FINES CALLED FOR

To the editor of the Lincoln Star: It is being reported now that some commercial truckers are getting farm licenses for their trucks. If that is true, it is time an investigation be made and good stiff fines meted out to them for falsifying their occupations to chisel on the laws as laid down on licenses for commercial trucking.

DEATH OF STATE RIGHTS

Greenwood, S. C.

To the editor of the Lincoln Star: "Property is the fruit of labor; property is desirable; it is a position good in the world. That some should be rich shows that others m y become rich, and hence is just encouragement to industry and enterprise. Let not him who is houseless pull down the house of another, but let him work diligently and build one for himself, thus by example assuring that his own shall be safe from violence when built."

Abraham Lincoln was probably the greatest man that the republican party ever had. Beyond question when he was murdered, America lost one of the greatest statesmen she ever produced, when he died it gave Thad Stevens and his cohorts the opportunity they had been looking for, (and from circumstancial evidence they were probably responsible for his death.)

His death was used as an excuse by these same men for passing the fourteenth and fifteenth amendments to the United States constitution, which would not have been passed had Lincoln lived. No doubt he was removed to give these renegades the opportunity to pass them. The passage of those two amendments was the first serious assault on the constitution which had for more than seventy years been considered the best law that had ever been conceived by the brain and written by the hands of men.

Since those amendments were passed different administrations have from time to time taken the liberty of changing the meaning of that document. States rights have become little more than a name. Other parts of the constitution have received the same treatment, often by judicial decisions which would indicate that some judges pay more attention to the advice of the president than they do to the highest law of the land. This seems to have been practiced to the extent that a great many people believe that we should have no constitution and no congress and leave the making of laws up to the president and the courts. This seems especially called for at this time when we have the United Nations to supervise everything.

ERROR EXPLAINED

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of the Lincoln Star: I read a news item in this morning's paper that seemed quite inaccurate so I am taking the liberty of calling your attention to it.

Attached is a copy of the proposal for a highway commission which was introduced as a substitute for the original commission bill, L.B. 2, at the hearing before the committee on public works, March 1.

The substitute was the result of several months' work by the organizations affiliated with the Nebraska Highway Users Conference as an approach to what we believe is the real immediate problem with relation to highways in the state of Nebraska, i.e., the development of a sound, sensible road program for Nebraska.

Every Highway User Organization endorsed the substitute bill.

Mr. Marshall, chairman of the Nebraska Highway Users Conference, discussed it with you, with the purpose of securing advance opinions before the measure was submitted to the public works committee.

For a long time the Highway Users groups have been concerned because of the obvious absence of any statewide plan for the improvement of roads in our state. In connection with their studies, which lead to the above conclusion, the conferees furnished the legislators with a full statement of the use of federal-aid secondary road funds on the secondary road systems of the state. This statement shows conclusively that federal aid and state highway department funds are not used or distributed in connection with any plan or program. It seems obvious that many grants-in-aid are made for purely political considerations.

At any rate, the Highway Users proposed the highway commission plan as a sincere, worthwhile suggestion for the improvement of our roads—at reasonable cost—within the ability of the taxpayers to pay.

Mr. Donovan's assertion that this group has not offered anything constructive is in error.

This is for your information and I hope you will appreciate the spirit in which it is sent to you.

Code Officers Pay Hike Bill Killed

Overwhelming Voice Vote Rejects Peterson's Plan

'Back Door Approach' Would Up Salaries In Spite Of Constitution

BY ARCH DONOVAN
Star Staff Writer

By an overwhelming voice vote, the legislature Tuesday killed what was admittedly a "back door approach" to increasing salaries of five state code department heads until July 1, 1953.

The bill was requested by Gov. Val Peterson, who used the argument, "give me the tools" to do my job. He stated that he could not recruit heads of departments at the salaries set up and which the constittuion prohibits increasing until 1953 and 1955.

The governor offered a plan to set up a new administrative board which would perform the functions of the merit system council which was abolished by the present session. Under the bill he would have authority to grant extra pay for this work.

No Conflict of Jurisdiction

Sen. Earl Lee questioned Chairman C. C. Lillibridge of the committee which held the hearing whether it was developed at the hearing that there is a conflict of jurisdiction between departments. One of te duties of the proposed board was to prevent conflicts. The answer was, "no."

Lillibridge said that the only thing brought out was that the governor wanted salary increases

Sen. Lee pointed out that the first six of the proposed new duties were things that the department heads should be doing, if they are not. The other four, he explained, puts back a merit system which the legislature has just abolished. He termed the proposal "bad government."

He read from the statute a provision that the department heads must serve full time on their jobs and cannot receive pay from other sources.

"It seems to me this seals the doom of this bill," he stated. It was pointed out by the Fremont senator that such legislation permeates down to counties and cities. He recalled where a Fremont city official was required to pay back about $20,000 he had received from holding two city jobs.

McNutt Opposes Principle

"We are kidding ourselves by putting down high flown phrases, unless we can find actual additional duties," Sen. Robert McNutt said. "If the men are not doing the first six things listed in the bill there is something wrong with what they are doing. I am in sympathy with the purpose of the bill but oppose it in principle."

Sen. Ed Hoyt explained the views of the governor and told that two vacanies now exist in department heads. He explained that the governor does not want the positions "to be a rich man's job, but wants the worker to be be paid for his work."

Sen. Charles Tvrdik pointed out that some members of the board would be paid extra for sitting on it while others whose pay increases will be effective immediately would not.

"It is a back door approach to a problem," he said, and we are trying to find something to justify passage."

When questioned as to how much the governor would increase salaries, Sen. Lillibridge said that he had agreed to limit increases to equal the amount granted in another bill and not to exceed $100 a month to one person. The extra pay, he said, was limited to July 1, 1953.

"We were as reluctant to advance the bill as you are to pass it," he remarked.

It was pointed out that the "back door" approach has been used before and members cited increasing mileage of sheriffs rather than salary increases and an increase in duties of the revisor of statutes with added pay provided in LB. 233.

When the motion of Sen. W. J. Williams to indefinitely postpone the bill passed, Sen. Hal Bridenbaugh immediately asked that LB 233 be returned to general file for indefinite postponement. In parliamentary maneuvering, his attempt failed.

Agents Told Growth Of Mutuals Sure

Mutual insurance agents at the close of the second and final day of their first state meeting were assured of the "prosperous growth of nearly all mutual insurance companies," and the extending of mutual insurance benefits on a greatly expanded scale.

Speaker before the group at the final session was Phil Baldwin, secretary of the National Association of Mutual Insurance Agents. He spoke on the "Past, Present and Future," of Mutual Insurance associations.

K. L. Hunt, Nebraska inspection bureau, recalled to the agents three principal responsibilities: 1. To the policy holder, to protect his good name and reputation; 2. to the agents to conduct mutual's business in a high grade and courteous manner, and 3. to the home office to render prompt and accurate service.

Other speakers were Paul Colburn, president of the Protective Fire Insurance company; and John F. Moss, district sales manager of retail credit.

District officers, elected at a business meeting Monday, selected B. G. Clark, treasurer of the Union Fire Insurance company, to serve as secretary-treasurer of the Nebraska Association of Mutual Insurance agents for the coming year.

County Puts OK On Security Plan For Its Workers

Lancaster countys' 400 employes will be brought under the federal social security program.

Tuesday, the county commissioners approved such a resolution. It was made retroactive to Jan. 1, 1951.

The legislature recently passed a bill enabling state, county and municipal employes to be brought under the program.

This means that the employe and the county each will contribute 1.5 per cent of each paycheck. It is estimated the cost to the county the first year will be nearly $10,000.

State Hospital Program Due Less Funds

$607,140 Federal Appropriation Allotted

Nebraska probably won't get as much federal money for its hospital program the next fiscal year beginning July 1 as it did last year.

So far the state isn't slated to get any aid at all.

But legislation before congress calls for an appropriation of $75,000,000, Verne Pangborn, head of the state's hospital division, said Tuesday.

That's the same amount congress appropriated last year.

But even so, the state's share of the $75,000,000 will be less than last year's amount of $680,245.

According to a distribution formula set up by the federal government, Nebraska's allocation would be $607,140.

The formula is based mainly on the state's per capita income and the state's population, as compared to other states and to the nation as a whole.

So the slight increase in the state's population and in per capita income would make for a smaller share, Pangborn explained.

He said that this year's supply of federal funds has been exhausted.

Iowa Pilot In First Bangor Plane Crash

(Special to The Star)

BANGOR, Me.—A former air national guard pilot escaped serious injury Tuesday when he crash landed his F84 thunder jet about 50 miles east of here.

This was the first accident to occur since units of the Iowa-Nebraska air guard were reactivated April 1.

The pilot was First Lt. Thomas E. Green, 26, of Sioux City, Ia., a member of the 174th fighter squadron, formerly of Sioux City but now on active duty with the 132nd fighter wind at Dow air force base at Bangor.

Lt. Green was reported missing from a routine training flight after he became separated from other F84's with which he had been flying. Within minutes an extensive search program was carried out, said Capt. W. E. Shotwell, public information officer at Dow field.

However, a resident near where Lt. Green landed called Dow field to report that the pilot was "shaken up, but OK."

Lt. Green is married and the father of one child. His friends here were not sure whether his family had joined him here or were still in Sioux City.

Officials at Dow field said a board of officers had been appointed to investigate the accident.

Pauley Estate $13,105

An inventory of the estate of Ray C. Pauley, who died April 1, 1950, lists an unvalued Lincoln property and $13,105 in assets.

The valued property includes $12,297 stock interest in the Home Owners Investment company and $708 in the Pauley Lumber company. The inventory was filed in county court.

Banquet Is Held By County Teachers

Nearly 60 Lancaster county teachers attended their association's annual spring banquet at the Y.W.C.A. Tuesday evening.

"A Thousand Years of American History" was demonstrated to the group by Rev. E. L. Jeambey of Fourth Presbyterian church with his flag collection.

Waverly high school students furnished musical entertainment. Harry Hegstrom, president and superintendent of Waverly school, was in charge of the meeting.

Boyles Re-Elected

Owen Boyles, director of the Nebraska division of motor vehicles, was honored by being reelected for a three year term as a member of the executive committee of the American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators. The national association held its annual meeting at Jefferson City, Mo.

Tractor Death Toll Is Rising In Nebraska

Loup Citian Is Latest Farm Victim

Several Nebraskans Killed Or Maimed In Farming Accidents

By the Associated Press

Death rides the tractor of many a Nebraska farmer.

Whether the mechanical "horse" kills or maims more farm folk than did the four-legged horse which it replaced is a question for ar gument. Runaway horses took a heavy toll in their day.

But in the mechanized age, tractors and their implements are perennial offenders.

The fact was pointed up anew Tuesday. Alfred Kontor, 42, of Loup City was killed when his tractor overturned on him. The day before Raymond E. Heier, 42, of Alvo fell from his tractor into a stalk cutter on a farm near Alvo. The accident was fatal.

Near Murray, Neb., 34-year-old Vernel Bullen, riding a tractor, reached for a .410 shotqun he had with him. The gun went off, and the charge struck Bullen in the right hand.

Many of the tractor accidents, especially the "close shaves," are never reported. But an Associated Press review indicates tractors have taken several lives already this year and the incidence of fatalities can be expected to pick up speed as farm work gets into the busy season.

Late in March, Lyle Hewitt, 26, of Rockville was killed when his tractor overturned. A month ago, Nyle Bryant, 25, of Roget, Wyo., was fatally crushed by an earth moving tractor at the Trenton dam project.

The farm has other death traps, too.

Last April 13, a belt on a feed grinder slipped off, striking and killing John R. Hasek, 43-year-old Newman Grove farmer.

A corn sheller accident late in March killed Walter Hemje, 40, of Hildreth. Earlier in the month a wild-swinging hay cabling chain struck Eugene Doolittle, 24, of Amelia, killing him.

In the Scottsbluff area last week, two 19-year-old youths were killed on succeeding days in tractor accidents. Donald Joy of Lyman was driving from a field when the tractor he was riding overturned on him. The day before Norman Schillereff of Scottsbluff died in a similar accident.

Truman Urged By Demos To Run For Re-election

WASHINGTON— (INS) — President Truman was urged Tuesday by the democratic party high command to run for re-election in 1952.

The invitation was extended by democratic National Chairman William M. Boyle, jr., Boyle said the president received the invitation without making any commitment but was pleased to have the support from his party and said it made him "feel good."

Boyle told newsmen that "a majority" of democratic leaders all over the country have informed him that they want Mr. Truman to run again in 1952.

Boyle was asked about the president's reaction. He said:

"The president has not indicated to me what he will do in '52.

"But I'll say that a majority of democratic leaders have told me they would like to have him run again.

"They regard him as the democratic party's best bet."

Boyle said he talks daily to democratic leaders from all over the country and that they are behind the president 100 per cent despite the current debate over the far east and Mr. Truman's dismissal of Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Asked why the democratic leaders feel that Mr. Truman is the party's "best bet" as democratic standard bearer in 1952, Boyle said:

"Every big decision the president has made has been right and for the welfare of the country. His decisions have been made for the people—for their good."

Congressman John Kee, 76, Dies Suddenly

... West Virginian

WASHINGTON—(INS)—Chairman John Kee (D-W.Va.) of the house foreign affairs committee died suddenly Tuesday while presiding over a meeting of his group at the capitol. He was 76.

The West Virginian abruptly left a closed door committee session, staggered into his private office and slumped down on a couch where he died a few moments later.

Kee's death came a few minutes before the house convened at noon. Shocked colleagues heard of it from Representative Richards (D-S.C.) who will succeed Kee as chairman.

Kee became committee chairman, March 7, 1949, upon the death of Representative Bloom (D-N.Y.) who was 78. Kee was an attorney by profession. He is survived by his wife, a son, James, and a daughter, Frances.

Army Bronze Star Awarded Sprague Man

Sgt. F/C Darrel W. Heiliger, of Sprague, has been awarded the army's Bronze Star for "heroic achievement on a combat patrol" Jan. 10, 1951, near Wonju, Korea.

Sgt. Heiliger, who was a corporal at the time of the citation, has previously won the infantry men's combat badge and the Korean campaign ribbon. He is the son of George H. Heiliger, of Sprague, and the brother of Mrs. L. W. Krueger, of Lincoln, and Virgil Heiliger, of California.

As a reactivated reservist, Sgt. Heiliger went to Korea in November. His citation read, "Despite overwhelming odds against him he aggressively and with no regard for personal safety engaged the enemy in his effort to accomplish the mission assigned the patrol."

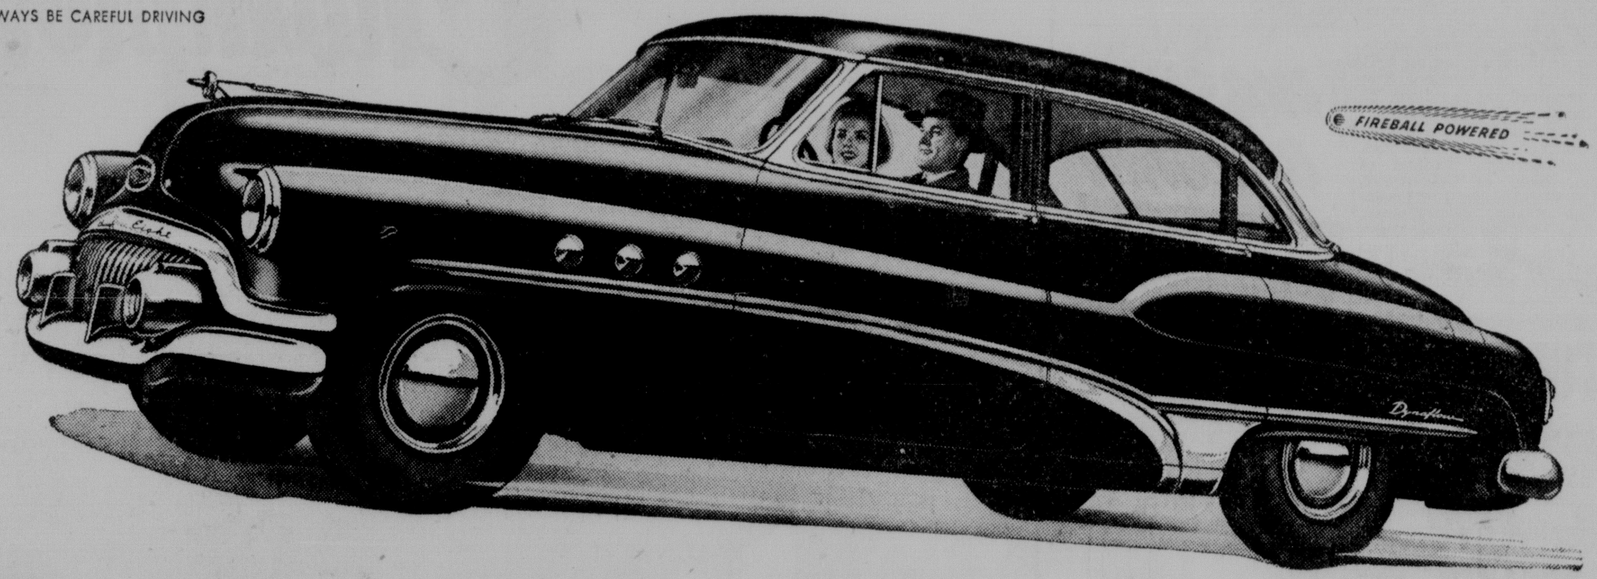
ALWAYS BE CAREFUL DRIVING



The difference goes more than Skin-Deep

NOBODY wonders what you're driving when you roll by in this one.

In the 1951 line-up, its brand-new front-end styling stands out with a beauty all its own.

You're the proud owner of a Buick—and the whole world knows it.

But you—at the wheel—enjoy a long list of differences that go far deeper than looks.

The ride is different—level and true. You sit the road with special assurance—because Buick's torque-tube drive keeps rear wheels firmly aligned—soft coil springs on all four wheels soak up the bumps and bobbles—honest weight keeps you on a steady keel.

The power is different—eager and sure. Buick's high-compression Fireball engine does wonders with fuel—and no matter what you demand in emergency, there's horsepower to spare.

Handling is different—this car seems to steer itself on straightaway or curve—and swings lightly into parking spots inches shorter than you'd think you need.

Capping it all, there's the silken versatility of Dynaflow Drive,* that takes all the tenseness out of driving—responds to your slightest wish with a surging swoop of power.

No doubt about it, what you get in a Buick is far more than just a new car—it's a whole new experience in getting pleasurably from here to there.

So why not explore this difference? Come, take a Buick over and find out how very much satisfaction smart money can buy.

Western, Eastern Wheat Crop Needs Differ

High Winds Hurt Fields In Panhandle

91 Per Cent Of Oats Are Seeded

High winds hurt many thin fields of wheat in the western part of the state last week and more rain is needed in that area to promote maximum plant development while in the eastern part of the state warm, dry weather would help.

The state-federal bureau of agricultural statistics made that report in its weekly survey Tuesday.

In other areas, however, the crop made fair to good growth last week.

Seeding of oats continued and at week's end 91 per cent of the job was done.

Sugar Beets Planted

In the sugar beet area practically all the acreage has been planted and some early fields are up. Additional labor is now moving in to care for the crop.

Preparation of land for potatos and dry beans is under way and the crop will be planted about the usual dates.

The picture on alfalfa was not good. Both new and old stands suffered severe winter kill in many areas and some fields were so damaged that they are being plowed up for row crops.

Stock Outlook Good

The rains helped pastures and ranges very much but grass has been slow to start growth this year and is just now starting to furnish feed for livestock. As a result ranchers were forced to feed hay much longer than usual, reducing their expected carryover.

The general livestock picture was good. Calf losses were low, the spring pig crop is expected to be larger than last year and a good lamb crop is reported.

Rainfall throughout Nebraska for the week ending Monday included:

War Hero Spends Quiet Day Renewing Old Acquaintances

(Special to The Star)

DWIGHT, Neb.—Sgt. Ernest Kouma, Dwight's No. 1 citizen, took life easy Tuesday, visiting relatives and friends.

The congressional medal of honor winner enjoyed a dinner of dumplings and sauerkraut, cooked by his mother, Mrs. Joseph Kouma, and then left the family farmstead for an afternoon of renewing acquaintances.

Plans for a family get-together as well as an official Dwight celebration honoring the war hero are still incomplete. They await word of the arrival of Sgt. Kouma's brother, Anthony, a marine who is being married Saturday at San Diego, Calif. Anthony, a marine, won the navy cross in World War II. A joint celebration is planned.

Sgt. Kouma arrived home Monday night to visit his parents; four brothers, Emil, Edward, Raymond and Albin; and two sisters, Gladys, at home, and Mrs. Joseph L. Kunasek, Bee. A brother, Jim, is in the U. S. navy.

Dwight citizens staged an impromptu homecoming for Sgt. Kouma Monday night upon his arrival here. He leaves Thursday night for Washington to receive the nation's highest medal for fighting men from President Truman.

Early Work On Gavins Point Urged

Dam Project Important To Basin Area

$5,000,000 Request Sought

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Mayor Ernest A. Crockett of Yankton, S. D. Tuesday stressed the importance of early construction of Gavins Point dam, near Yankton on the Missouri river.

Crockett and James Smith, manager of the Yankton chamber of commerce, urged approval of President Truman's budget request of $5,000,000 for the dam in the year starting July 1 in statements for a house appropriations subcommittee.

They said completion of Gavins Points is important in connection with Fort Randall, Oahe, and other Missouri river dams.

Randall 40% Done.

"Because the Gavins Point dam and reservoir is an integral operating part of the Fort Randall dam, which is approximately 40 per cent completed, the target date for the completion of Gavins Point has always been the completion date of Fort Randall," Smith said.

"Without Gavins Point, Fort Randall will not be able to release power according to 'peak' demands.' To do so would cause such serious flucuations in down-stream channel depths that it would preclude navigation completely, it would seriously erode the banks and the river would veret to a wild untamed condition.

Smith said the power function of Gavins Point is to give 100,000 KWS of electricity, plus the added function of firming up about 200,000 KWS of badly needed power from Fort Randall. This, he said, "is the cheapest electricity to be generated on the Missouri river."

The committee also was told by Smith that the Gavins Point dam would "effectively extend the market area of river power an additional hundred miles to the south and east into areas in Nebraska, Iowa and Minnesota of greater population density."

He said that the Missouri river power grid, of which Gavins Point is to be a part, is within the power market areas of Sioux City, Omaha, Kansas City, and Minneapolis.

Rep Hoeven (R-Ia) and a group of Iowans living near Sioux City urged the subcommittee to approve funds for Missouri river bank and channel work in the year starting July 1.

In statements, they called attention to the damage done by recent floods on the Missouri.

Hoeven said:

"Our farm lands are being washedd away and our Sioux City airbase will be seriously damaged, due to the failure of old dikes on the Nebraska side of the river which divert the force of the stream, with its corresponding force, to the point near the air base. . . ."

County Units To Get Civil Defense Book

A 21-page guide ot help counties complete their civil defense organization has been prepared by state civil defense headquarters.

The guide has been sent to 53 counties which have civil defense directors, State Director Edward Gillette said.

They are: Adams, Box Butte, Burt, Cass, Cedar, Chase, Cheyenne, Clay, Custer, Dakota, Dawes, Dawson, Dodge, Fillmore, Gage, Hall, Howard, Jefferson, Johnson, Lancaster, Lincoln, Madison, Morrill, Nemaha, Otoe, Pierce, Platte, Richardson, Saline, Sioux, Thayer, Wayne and York.

Douglas and Buffalo counties also have directors, Gillette said, but the guide was not sent to them because they already have a county plan.

The guide will be sent to other counties as soon as they have directors, Gillette said.

North Platte Airport Work Starts Soon

The state department of aeronautics Tuesday announced plans to go ahead with construction work at the North Platte municipal airport.

The work had been delayed by failure of the federal labor department to submit a complete labor wage rate schedule for the area, James Ramsey, director said.

But, Ramsey asid, bids are now being advertised on the basis of an April 4 schedule, although it does not include all the rates requested.

The city of North Platte is calling for bids on May 22 for the concrete surfacing of a parking apron and taxiway in connection with a new administration building, Ramsey said.

Ramsey estimated the work would take 65 working days.

Two New Groups Join Lutheran Women's League

(Special to The Star)

GRAND ISLAND, Neb.—This town served as host Monday to the executive board meeting of the Lutheran Women's Missionary league, southern Nebraska district at its regular quarterly meeting.

Mrs. Raymond Roehrkasse, Grand Island, district president, presided. Rev. A. F. Wegener of Chappell gave the scripture reading and prayer.

Two new societies, Faith Lutheran of Humboldt and Zion Lutheran of Red Cloud, were added to the district, bringing the total number to 94.

The executive group voted to present $1,500 to Concordia Teachers college at Seward for use in the chapel project.

Truman Gets Support Of Postmasters

. . . State Meet Ends

FREMONT, Neb. — (AP) — The National Association of Postmasters, Nebraska chapter, voted down a resolution condemning "hero worship of General Douglas MacArthur.

But in winding up a two-day convention here, the group went on record as having "full confidence in the ability of the president of the United States and those of his official family to guide this nation and to influence other nations along the path to lasting peace."

The postmasters also agreed to "deplore the action of those who, through propaganda and deception, confuse the general public and unwittingly perhaps, give aid to the Kremlin."

Seemingly referring to the current foreign policy debate, they approved a resolution to keep "minds free from emotional outbursts which would warp our thinking to the end that we would lost faith in the democratic processes of government, by, for and of the people."

About 250 persons are attending the convention. An executive committee will name a convention site for next year.

Peterson In Plea To End Meat Control

Governor's Telegram Calls It Injustice To U.S. Industry

Gov. Val Peterson has urged President Truman to end the present meat control measure immediately, calling it "one of the greatest injustices ever inflicted upon an American ndustry."

In a telegram to the president released Tuesday, the governor said:

"Eighteen per cent of its (the beef producing industry) wealth is being cnnfiscated by Oct. 1.

"Present feeder production costs which average 38 cents per pound, live weight for good edible beef were ignored by O.P.S. Other industries have had production costs allowed, plus a reasonable profit. Why this rank discrimination?

"To get production of meat, the confidence of thousands of individual operators must be maintained. This has been ruthlessly destroyed and will inevitably result in decreased production and black markets with no meat for many of our American families.

"The meat industry was winning the battle of plentiful supply. Cattle population was increasing. Government bungling will destroy these gains."

U.S. Asks Soviet For 'Yes-No' Reply

Big 4 Talks Appear Near A Breakup

Gromykyo Arguments Termed 'Nonsense'

PARIS—(INS)—The United States denounced Soviet rearmament and communist aggression in Asia Tuesday night and asked Russia for a "yes or no" answer on the proposed Big Four foreign minister's conference aimed at easing the world crisis.

Jessup

U.S. Delegate Philip C. Jessup accused Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko of using "illusory and deceitful" tactics in the deadlocked conversations by Big Four deputies trying to agree on an agenda for such a conference.

Tuesday night's fruitless session in the negotiations that began March 5 in Paris lasted only 45 minutes. The deputies will meet again Wednesday.

Gromyko still insisted that priority on any agenda be given to the Russian proposal for a proportionate Big Four arms reduction. The United States, Britain and France said that a discussion of the present level of existing armaments in Europe must be discussed first.

Jessup told Gromyko that his plan was illusory and deceitful and that the United States would not be a party to any such deceit. He added that the United States also would not agree to reduce is armaments while Russia remained free to increase her own military strength through the Soviet satellite states.

Jessup said the western allies would not consider a binding agreement on armaments before knowing whether the Soviets were prepared to accept strict controls.

"Childish Nonsense"

The American delegate termed some of Gromyko's arguments about the armaments situation as "childish nonsense." Then Jessup added:

"Western defense measures will continue as long as our security is threatened. . .by the Soviet's huge armed forces, by other armies supporting the Soviet Union, both in Europe and Asia, and by the poolicy supporting those armies."

The mention of Asia was an obvious reference to Moscow-allied red China's aggression in Korea.

Jessup then asked Gromyko: "Does the Soviet government refuse to participate in a meeting of the four ministers or not?"

Gromyko's only reply to Jessup was that the American's statement was "unworthy of comment." He said, just before adjournment, that he reserved the right to say something about it at a later date.

Charge Made That LB 476 Monopolistic

Independent bottled gas dealers charged that LB 476 pending in the state legislature would "set up a monopoly" and "attemps to enforce civil contracts by criminal prdocedure at state expense."

A five page pamphlet containing the charge and signed by 100 dealers reached legislators Monday by special delivery mail.

The bill prescribes safety regulations, but also would prevent anyone but the owner from refilling a container.

"The principal sponsors of this measure are Skelgas, a subsidary of Skelley Oil company, Butane Gas Corp., Omaha; Blaugas Co., of Omaha, and Victor Anderson of Lincoln" the pamphlet declared.

Want Millions, Not Thousands

Anderson is mayor of Lincoln and in the hardware business.

He is a former legislator and sat on the sidelines recently when LB 476 was debated on general file. At the time Sen. Art Carmody of Trenton referred to the measure as the "Mayor Vic Anderson bill."

The pamphlet delivered to the legislature Monday said "Anderson Hardware of Lincoln is paying approximately $1.50 for gas to fill a bottle and selling it at $7.50 to $7.95 per bottle. The majors can't gouge the user and they don't like it. They want the business controlled so that they can make millions instead of thousands."

Ancient Elephant Jawbone Is Found In Wilber Creek Bank

(Special to The Star)

WILBER, Neb.—The lower jaw bone of a giant elephant was dug from a creek bank northwest of Wilber Tuesday afternoon.

Ed Krefak, jr., discovered the relic on his father's farm six miles west and one and three-fourths miles north of Wilber.

The unfossilized jaw bone with teeth three inches across was buried about 30 feet up the side of a creek bank.

The finding was excavated Tuesday afternoon by a party from the University of Nebraska composed of Henry Reider, member of the N. U. museum staff, and Lloyd Tanner and Jerry Folsom, students. They were aided by J. C. Cain, Saline county agent.

The jaw bone was taken to the University museum where it will be mounted and studied. At least one tusk and perhaps more of the skeleton are believed to be still buried at the site.

Reider termed the finding a "fine specimen." The lower jaw was nearly complete. The relic was wrapped in burlap and placed in a plaster of Paris form.

The Aztecs bought and sold slaves for 100 cacao beans.

School Bond Issue Is 'Suspended In Mid-Air'

But Board Is Going Ahead Until Mobilization Request Cleared Up

The recently approved $6 million bond issue for expansion and improvement of Lincoln schools is virtually suspended in mid-air.

Fiscal agents old the Board of Education Tuesday that Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson's request that local governments get "clearance" before borrowing more than $1 million might slow the board's bond issue plans.

Wilson specifically asked state and local governments to clear with their regional voluntary credit committee every proposed credit issue of $1 million or more.

Recreation Question.

According to board member J. Lee Rankin, the only project in the board's plans that "would conceivably fit this category would be the $750,000 high school recreation building to be built at Lincoln high.

In view of the federal request, the board approved a plan to sell the full $6 million issue "as soon as possible" on the condition that clearance will be given.

Limit Immediate Sale.

The board's immediate plans, however, will limit sale of bonds to cover construction costs for two years—an estimated $3 million.

Four committees, to be appointed later by Chairman John Senning, were delegated to:

Work in conjunction with the board's fiscal agents in preparation of the sale of the approved bond issue. Fiscal agents said that from four to six weeks would be needed to work out details.

Consider the method of determining what architechtural firms will be used in the building program.

Study and recommend to the board the amount of official bond renewals for school district treasurer and assistant superintendent in charge of business affairs.

Investigate possibilities of purchasing land adjacent to schools. Previously, approval was given for the purchase of property east of the Sheridan school playground.

Calendar OK'd

A revised school calendar for 1951-52, recommended by the teaching staff, was also approved by the board.

Under the new plan Christmas and spring vacations will be extended. Christmas vacation will cover 10 school days and three weekends; Spring vacation, five school days and two weekends.

School will begin Sept. 5 and end June 4.

Rural Rehabilitation Fund Bill Is Passed

The $2,325,000 remaining to Nebraska's credit in the rural rehabilitation fund will be turned over to the director of agriculture as trustee under terms of a bill passed by the legislature Tuesday. The federal Farm Home Administration will continue to process applications.

Vote on LB 549, introduced by Senators Hoyt-Shalla-Marvel-Kotouc-Prohs, was 39-0. The measure carried the emergency clause.

Other bills passed:

LB 214, Hoyt-Tvrdik-Metzger. Continuing commission for completing murals and panels in the state capitol. 39-0.

LB 289, Wellensiek-McNutt-Kotouc. Prescribing additonal investments for insurance companies. 36-2.

LB 497, Wellensiek. Providing for voting by mail at irrigation district elections. 38-0.

LB 535, budget committee. Removing requirement that normal board accounts must be audited in open meeting. Emergency. 39-0.

Perfume That Clings

Q.—Dear Penny: I adore perfume, but for some reason or other its fragrance just does not last on me. I have told several of my friends that I want a new perfume, but first I must find out about a lasting one.—Mrs. A. W.

A.—A particularly good idea for women who claim that perfume does not "stay with them" is a Liquid Skin Sachet. It smooths on the skin very easily, and lingers longer because of its sachet base. It has a slower rate of diffusion and evaporation than any other type of fragrance. Try this Houbigant Chantilly Liquid Skin Sachet. Only $1.85 plus tax at better stores.

Council Of Women's State Organizations

Following the morning session of the fourth and final meeting of the year for the Nebraska Council of Women's State Organizations Tuesday, at the Y.M.C.A., The Star photographed the presiding officers of the council. From left to right are Mrs. C. Fred Ferciot, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. E. W. Orme, president; Mrs. J. E. Conklin of Hubbell, vice chairman; and standing, Mrs. Florence Atwood, member of the program committee. (Not included in the picture is Mrs. L. E. Hoover of Lincoln, chairman of the program committee, and Mrs. Otto Hackman of Lincoln, membership chairman.)

The Star learned that the council has been organized since December, 1946, when members of the women's organizations throughout the state recognized the need for a central council or committee to help women's club members coordinate their programs and projects.

With the assistance of the state-wide organization of the Nebraska Federation of Women's clubs, Mrs. H. C. Hanna of Superior, and Mrs. R. W. Hill of Hebron, during their terms as presidents of the N.F.W.C., did much to give initial impetus to the organization and success of the council.

Serving as a clearing-house for ideas and programs, as well as assisting member organizations with such matters as setting convention dates and obtaining conference speakers, the council had as its first president Mrs. H. C. Hanna, followed the ensuing year by Mrs. R. W. Hill. Mrs. Eber Allen of Lincoln, served as the first secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. L. E. Hoover as vice chairman and program chairman.

Meeting four times a year, in October, December, February and May, council representatives have heard many interesting speakers discussing a variety of topics, The Star was told. Addressing the first group of twenty-three club delegates, were Miss Helen Becker, health extension specialist for the community health program in the state; Miss Gertrude Church, head of the public health nursing program for the state department of health; T. A. Filipi, director of sanitation for the state health department; and Dr. Donald Alderson, director of the state health department's hospital survey.

During the past year, the Star learned, a few of the topics discussed for the benefit of the council were the nurse recruitment program in the state, special education facilities in Nebraska, problems of the handicapped worker in industry, the gas tax, international control of atomic weapons, and compulsory health insurance as well as public health problems.

Representatives of various state women's organizations who comprise the membership of the council today include: Mrs. Gladys Yost, Milford, American Legion Auxiliary; Mrs. E. W. Orme, Lincoln, A.A.U.W.; Mrs. Glenn Whitcomb, Omaha, Nebraska Medical Association Auxiliary; Mrs. Milton C. SAME SONG Second Verse

MIGHT AS WELL finish this morning what we began yesterday—and maybe tomorrow there will be a fresh quota of news all wrapped up and left on your doorstep—

In our little corner yesterday we mentioned brides-to-be—and guests—This morning we'll finish our story about parties for Delta Gamma Audrey Wallace—and mention a guest courtesy or two—plus some Mother's Day week-end travelers—

* * *

ON FRIDAY Miss Wallace will be the honoree at a party for which Mrs. Ralph Ingalls, Mrs. Richard Blunk, and Mrs. H. Dietz will be hostesses—and on Saturday, the bride-elect will share honors with her fiance, Donald Gordon Smock who, with Miss Wallace, arrived last week-end from Chicago for a week's stay in Lincoln. The Saturday party is an open house between the hours of 7 o'clock and 10 o'clock in the evening for which Miss Wallace's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Wallace, will be host and hostess.

The marriage of Miss Wallace to Mr. Smock will be solemnized on Saturday, May 26, in Chicago.

* * *

ALSO ON THE FRIDAY calendar is a dinner for which Captain Thomas Alton Donovan, USN, and Mrs. Donovan will be host and hostess at their home when they entertain a small group of guests as a courtesy to Captain and Mrs. Almon E. Loomis who will be leaving Lincoln sometime during the summer.

* * *

LEARNED THAT Jean R. Kinder would be taking off for Chicago later this week to join Mrs. Kinder, who has been at Battle Creek, Mich., for the past ten days, at the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Lowell R. Dwinell for the Mother's Day week-end.

* * *

AND TO MASON CITY, IA., for the week-end will go Mr. and Mrs. George Lemon who will be the guests of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Van Duling (Georgia Lemon).

* * *

BUT ALL THE NEWS doesn't belong to the future—Heard that Mrs. Wayne Packard was a tea hostess between the hours of 3 o'clock and 5 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon when she entertained in courtesy to Mrs. Keith Adkisson—the former Janice Pauley. Twelve guests, including close friends of Mrs. Adkisson's, and their mothers, were invited.

Mrs. Adkisson, as you will remember, stopped off in Lincoln en route to French Morocco from Guam.

Coach Pete Beiterman's Mitchell Tigers will be a slight favorite to retain their Class B State Track crown this week end. The Tigers have 11 men on which to place their hopes for this year's title.

Leading this list of speed demons is Elwood Weitzel in the 180-yard low hurdles. He ran the course in 21 seconds at the district qualifying meet at Bayard two weeks ago. The low hurdles is his specialty and will be a strong contender for Gold Medal honors.

Harold Wilkins took both the 100-yard dash and the 220 in the Bayard meet. The Gering lad posted a :10.3 in the century and :23.5 in the furlong. He could grab one of the titles in the State meet May 11-12 but it is doubtful that he should even try to compete in both events.

Last week Richard Anderson of Holdrege completed the 440 oval in :51.3 to pace all comers. His qualifying time was :52.5 so he is not just a flash in the pan.

CLOSE SECOND

Another quarter-miler that seems to be in a hurry is Elgin Nelson of Central City. He was only one-tenth of a second slower in his State trials than Anderson.

Bill Zinnel of Ravenna ran the half mile in 2:02.4 to establish a new district mark and run the best 880 in Class B circles but it is way short of Bobby Ginn's 1:59.3 set in 1939.

Jerry Barton of Gering is returning to defend his pole vault crown. Last year Barton won the Gold Medal in the State meet. He had only to clear 11 feet 2¼ inches to win his pet event in the regional qualifying meet.

Competition in the discus will overshadow all other field events in Class B.

Ray Lanik of Wahoo has thrown the platter 145 feet 7 inches to lead the State in this event. Doyle Fyfe has a distance over 140 feet as does Juricek of Crete. All are consistent at 136 feet and have to be at their best to win this event.

The majestic 100-yard dash will be wide open. Starting, weather, conditioning, and mental frame of mind are factors that have to be considered in this attraction. The race is too short to make any safe predictions as to who will win.

STUBBS WATCHED

Mike Stubbs of Lincoln Teachers has run the 100 in 10 flat several times but his qualifying time was :10.3. With favorable conditions several athletes are capable of running the century in less than 10 seconds.

The mile relay record is in for definite revision this week-end. Four teams bettered the old mark in the qualifying trials two weeks ago. Holdrege posted 3:37.6 to top the others. Ogallala, York and Superior are not to be counted out in this race. All are capable of outstanding performances.

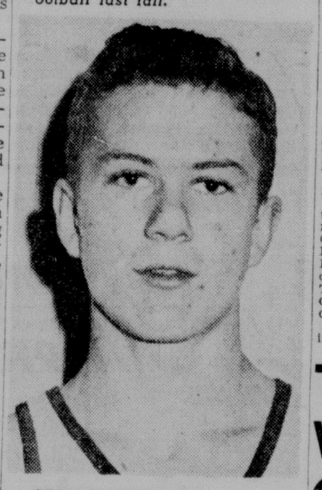
Fifty-five different schools will take part in the track festivities in Lincoln Friday and Saturday. Last year the Class B entry showed 57 high schools.

The only track finals on Friday will be in the 880-yard run. The Class B pole vaulters will open the show Friday noon.

The Class B discus throwers and broad jumpers will also see action Friday afternoon. All events will be finals. The track events start at 1:00 p.m. Field events at 12:00 m.

Class B qualifiers for the State meet.

DOYLE FYFE—Will be a threat to the discus and the shot put in Class B field events this week. The David City lad was on The Star's Class B All-State football last tall.



STAN MATZKE—Will enter the mile run, pole vault and high jump for Lincoln Teachers in the State track meet this Friday and Saturday. Matzke won all three events in the qualifying meet at Crete. He is also in the 880-yard relay team.

Thesz Still World Mat Champion

... Tops DiBiase

BY DON STRASHEIM.
(Star Sports Staff Member)

LOU Thesz, the agile St. Louis master, Tuesday night retained his world's heavyweight wrestling championship by defeating Mike DiBiase, the former Husker gridder at the fairgrounds.

Not only was the main event worth the price of admission, but the 45 minute semi-final between Jack Pesek and Joe Dusek was a feature in itself. Pesek and Dusek worked to a draw with each man getting one fall apiece.

The opener between Louie Longo and Fran McGill was tame compared to the other bouts but on an ordinary card would have been a good match. This 30 minute affair was also a draw. No one registered a fall.

Close Match.

Back to the main attraction, DiBiase gave the world's champion one of the toughest matches he has had in some time. DiBiase had Thesz reeling on the ropes and on the floor more than once. The champ asked for a breather several times but Mike wasn't too obliging.

Strangler Lewis.

Present at ring-side and manager and trainer for Thesz was one of the mat immortals, Strangler Lewis. Mr. Lewis took care of the champ's $10,000 dollar gold belt as well as voice instructions from his perch at ring-side.

The top-notch performance by DiBiase caused the Strangler to rise off his seat more than once. Several times the champ was in hot water and his manager knew it.

Thesz was somewhat on the rough side as far as the local fans were concerned. At times it was difficult to tell if he was boxing or wrestling.

DiBiase used the belly scissors to the best advantage. After about 12 minutes had elapsed in the bout, Mike used a series of body tackles to bring Thesz to the mat. The champ seemed to sense the end and gave Mike one last blow to the chest in the form of a drop-kick to stagger the ex-gridder and then pounced upon Mike like a hungry cat for the fall at 15:18.

The second round was along the same line. Mike was the aggressor and looked like a champion himself but again Thesz came through at the last minute.

UNPOPULAR FINISH

As DiBiase went into his scissor and tackle routine the champ countered with a flying mare to end the bout at 33:28. The decision was popular with no one but Thesz and his manager.

Referee Tom Novak did a fine job in the main event although the spectators seemed to disagree with every decision he made. Both wrestlers were satisfied with the officiating as was the promoter.

Pesek and Dirty Joe Dusek went to a 45 minute draw because both grapplers enjoyed the feeling and experience that means so much to a professional athlete.

Counters for each hold were the rule rather than the exception. Pesek attempted to get his "atomic toe hold" on Dusek but Joe found some method of keeping clear of Jack's specialty.

The final results, a draw, was well earned by both participants.

Murphy Meets Nardico At Chicago Stadium

CHICAGO—(INS)— Irish Bob Murphy, hard-punching light heavyweight boxer from San Diego, Calif., meets Danny Nardico at the Chicago Stadium tonight in a 10-round bout.

The Denver Bears added a pair of new players to their lineup by purchasing Gene Petralli from Colorado Springs and gaining the services of Frank Torre, assigned from Hartford, Conn. . . . Both players are first sackers and will serve as replacements for Doug Lewis, out with a broken wrist bone.

A's Crush Tribe 16-3

WICHITA, Kas.,—(AP)—Lincoln Athletics used 15 walks, ten of them coming in the eighth, to wallop the hapless Wichita Indians here Tuesday night 16 to 3.

The A's counted eight times in the 8th, although getting but one safe hit. Four Wichita pitchers were trotted out in that inning, two of whom did not get a man out.

Lincoln got off to a good start off Joe Kotrany, new Wichita righthander and had the game sewed up safely by the fifth.

Tom Kirk got four safeties for Lincoln including a triple, and drove in four runs. However, Lincoln got but one more safe hit than did Wichita and but for the wild pitching it might have been a close ball game, as Wichita had plenty of scoring chances off big Arnie Portocarrero, who also had a couple of wild innings. He was able to scatter the hits however and pull out of holes in three innings without much damage.

Five Marks Bettered In Doane Night Relay Program Tuesday

By JERRY MAPES
(Star Sports Staff Member)

CRETE, Neb. — Idaho State of Pocatello came over a thousand miles to show their stuff in an 18 team field at the third annual Doane Night Relays held in Crete Tuesday evening and the black-jerseyed gents walked off with a few honors of their own as five meet records fell by the wayside.

Defending champion Doane running before a partisan crowd of shirtsleeved fans managed to repeat in two of the five college relay events as Idaho State grabbed two and Omaha U. took the college sprint medley.

The Idaho State college distance medley team of Robert Weat, Don Hazard, Rudy Rojas, and Boyd Ruud toured the two and one half mile course in 10:46.1 to best Yankton's 1950 time of 10:50.1.

The Idahoans also equalled Doane's 880-yard relay meet mark as the foursome of Charles Lane, Gene Destard, Boyd Martindale, and Robert West ground out a 1:31.8 reading.

Gloe McDonald of Idaho rounded out a successful evening for the Pocatello gents as he posted an impressive 13 feet ⅝ inch vault almost a foot better than the previous 12.1 high.

GROAUS HITS.

Vic Grothaus of Westmar College in Iowa shattered two meet records in the weight events. The husky Grothaus sailed the discus 142 feet ¾ inches to eclipse the 135½ mark previously held by Ken Barth of Doane.

In the shot put, the Westmar lad sent another Doane-held record to tthe showers. Gorthaus got offa winning heave of 46 feet 2⅝ inches almost two feet better than Ralph Moerer's (Doane) 1950 relay reord put.

Thurman of Peru equalled his own broad jump mark as he leaped 22 feet.

New meet marks were also set in the College and junior college 100-yard dash events. Since both centurys were run for the first time as part of the Doane relays, the winning times will stand as records.

Joe Nulty, former Omaha Central flash and currently performing for Omaha U., was stopped in :10.1 for the 100-yard layout.

The Idaho college distance medley group cracked Yankton's 1950 10:50.1 time for the 440-880-¾ mile—one mile run, clicking off a 10:46.4 relay.

In the college 880-yard relay, Idaho men equalled Doane's 1950 record time of 1:31.8.

Doane performed as expected in the mile relay with the same quartet which performed in the Drake relays and established a 3:24.3 record in the 1950 event. Gib Eggen, Bob Provorf, Lowell Dodd, and Dick Konicek stepped the four laps in 3:25.6 without being pushed any of the distance.

The 18-team field was composed of Dana, Peru, Midland, Scottsbluff, Concordia, Westmar (Ia.), Doane, Idaho St. (Pocatello), Fairbury, Augustana, Hastings, Yankton (S.D.), York, Wayne St. Tarkio, (Mo.), and Omaha U.

Scottsbluff, McCook and Fairbury represented junior colleges while Beatrice, Fairbury, Wilber, Hebron, and Wymore brought high school teams.

SCOTTSBLUFF SUPERB

Scottsbluff walked off with all the honors in the junior college relay events as they won the 440, 880, mile, and sprint medley relays.

The Scottsbluff lads added to their honors for the day, a new junior college record in the pole vault as Hawkins went over at 11 feet 3¾ inches bettering the old 10-11 mark.

As was the case last year in the night cinder event, scoring was not on a point basis but merely a case of which squad managed to win the most relays.

Ideal weather prevailed as the flags on the far end of the field dangled limply from their moorings as the competitors went through their paces.

As an added attraction to the colorful ceremonies, 19-year-old Joan Underwood of Crete was crowned queen of the Doane College Night Relays.

Miss Underwood was selected from a field of seven candidates and presided over the event from the award table in the center of the field.

Cup awards were presented to the winning relay teams.

Shantz Hurls Philly A's To 9-4 Win Over Chisox

Cubs Nudge Dodgers, 2-1; Detroit Gets 6-5 Fluke Over Yankees

(Compiled From Press Dispatches)

CHICAGO — Bobby Shantz was rapped for a dozen well-spaced hits but won his first 1951 victory Tuesday when the Philadelphia Athletics coasted to a 9-4 triumph over the Chicago White Sox.

The victory salvaged the finale of the three game series for the Athletics and snapped the Comiskeys' four-game winning streak.

The A's piled up a 6-0 lead after the first half of the second inning. Starter Dick Littlefield got into a four-run jam in the opening round because of wildness. He walked four, yielded one single to Dave Philley, and then, after Hal Brown took over, Joe Astroth hit a two-run single to right.

CUBS 2, DODGERS 1

The Chicago Cubs got only four hits at New York, but one of them, Hank Sauer's two-run homer in the first inning, gave Rookie Bob Schultz all he needed to set down the Brooklyn Dodgers, 2 to 1, for his third victory of the season.

TIGERS 6, YANKS 5

Vic Wertz tried to duck a pitched ball in the 11th inning but it struck his bat and bounced into left field for a game-winning single as the Detroit Tigers licked their league-leading visitors, the New York Yankees, 6-5.

GIANTS 6, CARDS 2

The New York Giants downed the St. Louis Cardinals, 6 to 2, behind the brilliant four-hit pitching of Larry Jansen at the Polo Grounds.

BRAVES 2, REDS 1.

Sid Gordon's fourth homer of the season, in the ninth inning, gave the Boston Braves a 2 to 1 home-lot victory over the Cincinnati Reds and moved the Beantowners back into first place.

Gordon's smash, his first hit since May 4, broke up a pitcher's duel between Max Surkont and Herm Wehmeier.

BUCS 9, PHILS 3

Mel Queen and Bill Werle held the Philadelphia Phillies to four hits as the Pittsburgh Pirates pounded the National Philadelphia fans. league champions, 9 to 3. before 13,700

The Pirates slammed Ken Heintzelman and Milo Candini for ten hits, including Ralph Kiner's fourth homer of the season, with the bases empty in the second inning.

The Pirates picked up two more runs in the third and drove Heintzelman from the hill in the fifth when George Metkovitch tripled home two more runs. They got four more in the seventh in which the big blow was a bases-loaded double by Ed Fitzgerald.

THE winner of this series likely will win the Big Seven baseball crown.

That's the way the Wednesday and Thursday series between Nebraska and the University of Oklahoma shapes up. Both games start at 3 p.m. on the Husker lot.

The Sooners come to Lincoln boasting a 4-0 league record with two defeats over Kansas State and two over Missouri.

The Husker league record stands at 4-1 with two wins over the University of Colorado and single wins over Kansas State and the University of Kansas. Nebraska's loss was to Kansas by a score of 9-5.

ON THE ROAD

Oklahoma is facing a tough road schedule, playing all of its conference games in one trip. After engaging Oklahoma A. & M. at Stillwater in a non-league battle on Moy 8, the Sooners play at Nebraska May 9-10, at Iowa State, May 11-12, and at Colorado, May 14-15.

Pitching is the Sooners' strong department with five lettermen back from 1950. Jack Shirley, who had a 4-2 record last season, is Coach Jack Baer's No. 1 chucker.

Coach Tony Sharpe will start Dick McCormick on Wednesday and follow with Del Kopf on Thursday.

McCormick has won three and lost one this season, posting wins over Buena Vista, Kansas State and Colorado. He lost to the University of Kansas.

Kopf has a 2-0 record, winning over Wcihita U. and the University of Kansas.

DIERS LEADS

Bob Diers, Husker center fielder from West Point, continues to lead the Nebraska regulars in hitting with a .425 average.

Diers also leads in hits with 19, runs-batted-in with 21, and home runs with four.

Grand Island's Bob Reynolds is tops in runs scored with 19. He also leads the stolen base department with 13. Three times he has stolen home.

Gerald Dunn, Stoughton, Mass., was the big gun in the Husker attack in the two games with the University of Colorado. Dunn collected a homer, double and three singles to bring his batting average from .216 to .284.

Record Northern Pike Is Reported

State fishing records continue to fall. Henry Drumheller, jr., Route 1, Minatare, has notified the game commission that he caught a 28-pound northern pike while fishing at Lake Minatare on Nov. 3, 1950.

The game commission recently announced that it was attempting to bring its state fishing records up to date and that anyone catching a fish heavier than that listed in the records would receive recognition upon presentation of an affidavit ascertaining the catch.

Drumheller, using a minnow for bait and a 25 pound test line, battled for five minutes before landing the husky northern. His catch exceeded the old record 25 pounder caught by R. O. DeFord of Ogallala in McConaughy in 1949.

The big northern will be recognized as a state record upon receipt of an affidavit from Drumheller.

With Drumheller's notification, three letters have been received at the Game Commission office in the last four weeks informing the department of catching fish larger than those included in the state records. The first was Howard Brown of Columbus who landed a 47-pound, 6-ounce blue cat and the second was Roger E. Hoff of Gering who hooked a 11-pound walleye.

Mr. Nagle Enters Business

FRAN Nagle, All-Big Seven Cornhusker quarterback and star of the East-West game, will not succumb to any lucrative offers by the Philadelphia Eagles who drew him in the pro draft.

The Firing Line learned Tuesday night that Flippin' Fran will enter the business field in Lincoln and keep on coaching the Husker quarterbacks as a sideline.

Fran will be in the real estate and mortgage department of the Lincoln firm, headed by George B. Cook.

Much as we'd like to see Fran show the pros how it's done, we're mighty happy he elected to make a career in Lincoln. He'll be a great addition to the Husker staff and to the Lincoln business world.

Fran Nagle is the type of boy who is a credit to anything he does.

MEMORIAL Stadium is making the proverbial beehive look like a slumber party these days. The home of the Huskers is jumping with activity in half a dozen sports.

There's Ike Hanscom, the energetic little assistant mentor, talking to Irv Thode, the soph kangaroo of the broad jump and high jump pits.

He's asking Irv if he will serve as a high jump official during the state meet Friday and Saturday.

Ike Hanscom

Trainer Blaine Rideout and his capable assistants, Paul "Stub" Schneider and Bob "Tex" Holmes, are busy working on a raft of baseball and track muscles.

Tony Sharpe, the fiery diamond mentor, stops by to tell us he'd "sure like to beat Oklahoma this week-end." Knowing Tony and his Husker hustlers, we suspect they'll give the Sooners a battle.

Jack Riggle, the university photographer, is taking football shots, for fall distribution.

He has Quarterback John Bordogna and Tackles Jim Jones and John Machasic, the kids Line Coach Ralph Fife brought with him from Turtle Creek, Pa., are decked in Scarlet and lined up for shots. You'll be hearing from these high school pals next fall.

Ed Weir, with only a standby cane and the loss of a few pounds showing from his recent serious operation, is all over the place. He's checking on a halfmiler here, a highjumper there and in general, brooding over his proteges like a mother hen.

Ed's next business before the Big Seven sweepstakes at Columbia, Mo., May 24-25, is a duel with Kansas State Thursday.

Workmen are scattered over the track. It has to be in top shape for these preppers, you know.

P. S.—If you think the spot is busy now, cast an eye there Friday and Saturday.

HUSKER tracksters came back from the Oklahoma duel Saturday a bit awed by a certain Sooner freshman.

The lad is a transfer student, an English lad who hails from South Africa.

All he has done so far is broad jump 25 feet and spin a hundred in :09.6.

Speaking of transfer students, we hear that Esref (The Tireless Turk) Ayden of the Huskers will soon head back to his native Turkey.

Esref has been here since 1947 when he came over with the Turkish A.A.U. team.

WE hear they're having trouble down at Columbia, Mo., getting the plant in shape in time for the Big Seven event.

Spectator space is the big worry. The plant was simply not constructed for other than a stand-up duel meet crowd.

Last week-end, the stands were declared unsafe, but it was later announced that boxes and the first 10 rows of seats passed the test.

Which all means that the 1952 outdoor will probably go back to Memorial Stadium, the only plant in the conference able to really accomodate the event.

Tariff Concessions Granted 17 Western Nations

Agreement To Expand Commerce

Duties Reduced On American Shopments To Other Countries

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The United States has granted sweeping new tariff concessions to 17 western countries in another major move to expand world commerce.

Reduced duties covering $419,271,000 in foreign shipments to the United States will start going into effect June 6 under the new international agreements.

At the same time, existing low rates will be maintained on $58,305,000 in foreign imports.

In return, foreign governments have agreed to cut tariffs or keep from hiking rates on $1,157,000,000 of American products.

This country reduced its levies on many articles ranging from metals in short supply here to certain foods. It won concessions for sale abroad of many American farm products, chemicals and machinery among other things.

The new agreements, announced Tuesday by the state department, were negotiated during a seven-month tariff conference at Torquay, Eng., which ended April 21.

Thirty-four nations, accounting for 80 per cent of world commerce attended the meeting. It marked the third time that western countries have banded together to reduce trade barriers since World war two ended.

Western Germany and Canada won the biggest concessions from the United States and in turn granted the most substantial reductions to American products.

The 17 nations with which the United States concluded new agreements are Belgium, Brazil, Canada, Denmark, The Dominican Republic, France, Indonesia, Italy, Netherlands, Norway, Luxenbourg, Sweden, Austria, Germany, South Korea, Peru and Turkey.

The new agreements were negotiated under the reciprocal trade act which give the president power to cut tariff rates in effect Jan. 1, 1945, up to 50 per cent.

Street Fights Break Out In Spain Strike

... Against High Costs

PAMPLONA, Spain — (AP) — Civil guardsmen fired Tommy guns into the air Tuesday night to halt demonstrations of strikers in Pamplona.

Many persons were injured by blows from police nightsticks during the sporadic fighting in many parts of the city. The battling climaxed a general strike in protest against the rising cost of living.

(In Madrid, there were reliable reports that troops had been sent to Bilbao in preparation for possible disorders there.)

Wesleyan Male Chorus Gives 400 Big Musical Treat Here

An enthusiastic audience of over 400 music lovers enjoyed a musical treat from Professor Leonard Paulson and his well-drilled Nebraska Wesleyan university male a cappella chorus Tuesday night.

The group was making its final public appearance of the school year in a traditional "homecoming" concert, marking the end of its 41st spring tour.

Under the skilled leadership of their young but talented director, the 24-voice organization moved smoothly through a complete program of sacred and secular selections ranging from Gearhart's arrangement of "Dry Bones" to Staner's "God So Loved the World."

The audience was put in a receptive mood with Romberg's stirring "Stouthearted Men," which served as a processional to launch the program, and their attention was held throughout until the closing number, an inspired arrangement of Bach's "Benediction."

The concert opened with the light, spirited "The Swazi Warrior," by Thomas Wood and was climaxed with a colorful arrangement of the Greek Orthodox hymn, "Hospodi Pomoloi," by Lvovsky, with a lighted cross in the background giving a special effect.

In addition to numbers by the chorus, the program was augmented by vocal solos, numbers by two quartets, a vocal duet and a humorous reading.

Paul Swanson of Grand Island was well received with his reading, "Oral Punctuation," a takeoff on the Victor Borge favorite.

Later, Mr. Swanson teamed with Bob Hensman of Red Cloud, a tenor, to sing "So Thou Lifteth Thy Divine Petition," from Stainer's "Crucifixion."

Allen Hartley, Lincoln tenor, evoked spontaneous applause from the audience for his rendition of "All Hail Thou Dwelling Pure and Lovely," from Gounod's "Faust," and Bob Larsen of Garden Grove, Calif., was a favorite with his bass performance of "I Walked Today Where Jesus Walked," by O'Hara.

Plainsmen quartet — Mr. Hensman, Mr. Swanson, Mr. Larsen and Bill Cooper of Gering, sang "The Animals Are Coming" and "The Peanut Pickin' Song," a Negro work song.

State's Grocery Bill Is Higher; Only 3 Items Less

The state board of control paid higher prices almost all the way down the line in groceries bought for the state's institutions for April, May and June as compared to the same months last year.

Of 26 items bought, only three were down from last year. They were green beans, which dropped from $3.34 to $3.33 per pound; yellow wax beans, own from $3.67 to $3.54 and canned cherries, from $6.46 to $5.78.

The biggest increases were shown in canned tomatoes, increasing from $3.41 to $6.02 per case; canned apricots, from $3.75 to $5.78, and canned peaches, $3.10 to $5.02.

The United Nations flag was adopted by the General Assembly on Oct. 20, 1947.

Gillette Reports On Civil Defense Trip

State Civil Defense Director Edward Gillette Tuesday said a federal staff college short course on civil defense he attended last week in Washington "strengthened my conviction of the need for civil defense in Nebraska."

He added, "We will probably not be bombed, but with livestock and crops our basic industry, we could well use some knowledge on what to do about biological warfare and sabotage as well.

"We may well need to help industrial centers less fortunate, but still vitally important to our economy."

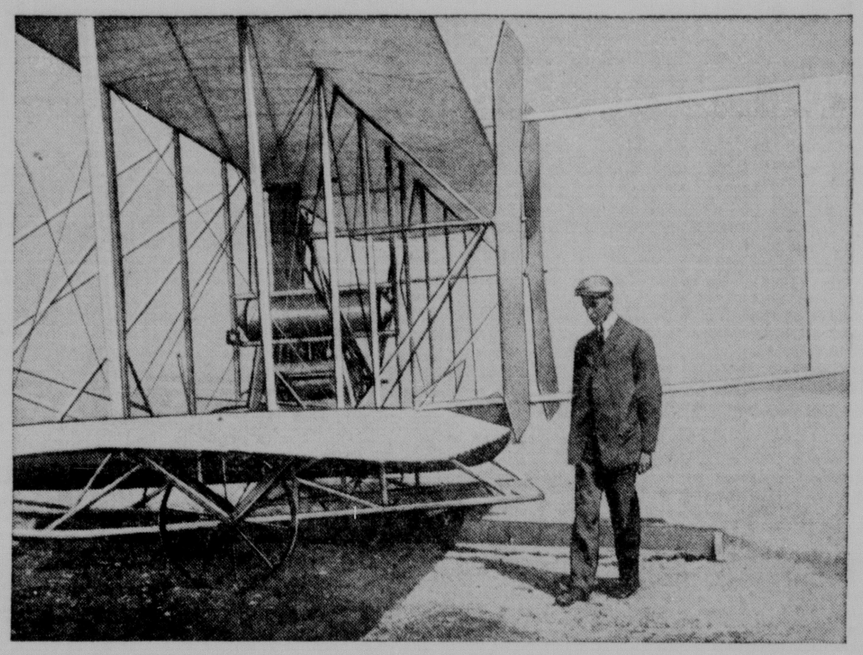
HENRY FORD built his first car with nothing but his hands and some scrap material. Today, technology has advanced so far that it usually takes millions worth of equipment to prove that a new automotive idea has value. A tremendous hurdle for the independent inventor!



THE WRIGHT BROTHERS designed their first plane with the help of a foot-square, homemade "wind box." Today a man with a new idea in plane design needs a supersonic wind tunnel costing millions. How can the individual inventor get the use of such facilities?

An Invitation to Every American Who Has an Idea for a Better Petroleum Product

To encourage progress, The SINCLAIR PLAN will open the doors of the company's great petroleum laboratories to the best ideas of inventors everywhere.

INVENTIVE Americans are often hamstrung today. Not because of any lack of ideas, but because of a need for large and expensive facilities to find out if and how their ideas work.

This was no obstacle in our earlier days. With nothing but his own hands and a few dollars, Henry Ford proved to the world that he could build a gasoline automobile that ran. Eli Whitney built his cotton gin in a barnyard with homemade tools—and it worked.

Contrast this with the fact that the first pair of nylon stockings took ten years of research time, enormous laboratory facilities, and $70,000,000.

Today, science and invention have become so complex that a man with an idea for a better product often needs the assistance of an army of specialists and millions worth of equipment to prove his idea has commercial value.

Within the petroleum field, The Sinclair Plan now offers to provide that assistance—in the interest of both the inventors and ourselves, and of the millions who buy Sinclair products.

The Sinclair Plan

Under this Plan, Sinclair is opening up its great research and development laboratories at Harvey, Illinois, to independent inventors, wherever they may be, who have sufficiently good ideas for better petroleum products.

Sinclair Research Laboratories have nine modern buildings equipped to handle every phase of petroleum research. These laboratories were built with an eye to the future, and their potential capacity is larger than is required for current work. This capacity will be made available for developing the best ideas of outside inventors.

If you have an idea for a better petroleum product or for a new application of a petroleum product, you are invited to submit it to the Sinclair Research Laboratories, with the provision that each idea must first be protected, in your own interest, by a patent application or a patent.

If the directors of the laboratories select your idea for development, they will make, in most cases, a very simple deal with you: In return for the laboratories' investment of time, facilities, money and personnel, Sinclair will receive the privilege of using the idea free from royalties. This in no way hinders the inventor from selling his idea to other companies or from making any kind of arrangements he wishes without further reference to Sinclair.

How to Participate

Instructions on how and where to submit ideas under The Sinclair Plan are contained in a complete Inventor's Booklet that is available on request. Write to the office of the Executive Vice-President, Sinclair Research Laboratories, Inc., 630 Fifth Avenue, New York 20, N. Y. for your copy of this booklet. Important: Please do not send in any ideas until you have sent for and received the booklet of instructions.

SINCLAIR RESEARCH LABORATORIES at Harvey, Illinois, have contributed many of today's most important developments in the field of petroleum products, refining and production.

Under The Sinclair Plan, the available capacity of these great laboratories is being turned over to developing and proving out the promising ideas of inventors everywhere.

Happy Housewife Finds Lost Rings

Two valuable rings, believed to be lost or stolen, were found nestling in the drain of her washing machine Tuesday by a happy housewife.

Better Basin Information Is Advocated

How to develop better educational program to acquaint Nebraskans with the Missouri basin development program was discussed at a meeting of the Nebraska coordinating committee for a Missouri basin resource development here Tuesday.

The committee met at the University of Nebraska college of agriculture to hear E. W. Janike and Clyde C. Noyes of the Nebraska agricultural extension service and Willis Ervin, Indianola, of the bureau of reclamation discuss the subject.

One of the biggest needs, said Janike, is creating understanding among people of what is involved before land is taken for a development project.

Noyes said there should be a coordinated approach with all agencies in agreement. He added that the information should be channeled through a local source. He maintained the information should be started early —before the project is started.

Ervin discussed the use of development farms to acquaint farmers with the problems involved in irrigation and show them how to solve them. He said about 10 farms are needed for this purpose.

Two farms are being used now for demonstrations—the Mac Anderson farm near Arapahoe and the Everett Stenson farm near Hardy.

Better Airport Here Up To Congress

The $100,000 which Lincoln may draw from the federal government for airport improvement will depend largely upon whether the funds are appropriated by congress.

This was pointed out Tuesday night by C. A. Woody, assistant district airport engineer of the CAA in Lincoln. He said that the city can use the federal funds for certain types of airport development which come under provisions of the federal airport act of 1946.

In order to do so, however, Lincoln will have to match the funds with an equal sum from its own treasury. The engineer stated there "wasn't much difference" between this year's allotment and those of recent years.

BOND MARKET

NEW YORK—(AP)—The federal reserve board stepped in Tuesday to support some longer maturity government bonds after most federal issues had displayed sagging tendencies.

The bonds supported by the board—longer maturity restricted issues which are ineligible for purchase by commercial banks—closed unchanged. But some tax-exempt and bank eligible issues lost from 1-32 to 8-32 of a point. The higher prices issues were the larger losers.

The long-term bank-eligible 2½s of September, 1972-67, which do not receive support when the board enters the market, lost 6-32 at 99 18-32 bid.

Dealers said trading was light and that much of the activity involved apparent reconnaissance by the dealers themselves to find price levels at which specific issues might be traded freely.

Markets At A Glance

NEW YORK—(AP)—

STOCKS—Mixed; rails and chemicals higher.

BONDS—Governments down; corporates mixed.

COTTON—Steady; trading quiet.

CHICAGO—

WHEAT—Steady; light export business.

CORN—Steady to firm; export business.

OATS—Mixed; some deliveries followed corn.

SOYBEANS—Higher; short covering.

HOGS—25-35 cents lower.

CATTLE—Mixed, steers steady to strong. Others lower.

Chemicals Top Market Gains

NEW YORK— (AP) —Chemical shares made a brilliant advance Tuesday almost independently of the rest of the stock market.

Gains in that division went to more than $4 a share. Most other areas had difficulty in attaining advances in the $1-$2 range. At the same time, losses running to more than $1 were frequent.

Railroads and motors did rather well but at no time did their gains approach those of the chemical division.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up 10 cents at $7.00 after three consecutive sessions of decline. The industrial component of the average lost 20 cents but rails rose 40 cents. Utilities were unchanged.

Of the 1,152 individual issues traded, 473 advanced and 401 declined. That fairly even balance, however, was not as descriptive of the market as the fact that not one of the 15 most active issues ended lower.

Trading expanded to 1,600,000 shares on the rise as compared with 1,580,000 shares Monday when the market was falling.

Curb stocks were mostly higher with sales coming to 420,000 shares, as compared with 450,000 shares Monday.

Selling off were Molybedenum, New Jersey Zinc, and Consolidated Mining & Smelting.

Mild Rally Hits Grains

CHICAGO — (AP) — Grains couldn't make much progress at the board of trade Tuesda ywith the exception of rye. The thin rye market responded to some late buying and moved up as much as two cents on buying believed to be short covering.

Wheat and corn managed to stay ahead of the previous close after a mid-session rally, the result of reports of some dust storms in Kansas and mild export business in wheat and corn.

At the finish wheat was ⅛ to ¾ higher, corn was ⅛ to 1 cent higher, oats were ⅛ lower to ⅛ up. Rye was ⅛ to 2½ higher, soybeans were ¾ to 2¼ higher and lard was 5 cents a hundredweight higher to 2 cents lower.
